Austco Healthcare Secures $2.1M Contract for New Patient Tower at Toronto Western Hospital

Austco Healthcare Limited (ASX: AHC) is pleased to announce that it has secured a AUD $2.1 million contract to supply and implement its advanced nurse call platform, Tacera, for a new state-of-the-art patient and surgical tower at Toronto Western Hospital, part of the University Health Network (UHN).

This major project is part of a $1 billion investment by the Province of Ontario and is scheduled for completion in the fall of 2028. It will serve as a cornerstone of innovation in healthcare delivery, supporting both advanced surgical care and research. Austco's solution will facilitate this transformation by delivering real-time clinical communication, enhancing patient safety, and sophisticated integrations with hospital systems.

This tailored solution for TWH will integrate with third-party Real-Time Location Systems (RTLS) and HL7 interfaces to connect with hospital information systems. Additionally, the system will interface with the building management system via SNMP, allowing for intelligent control of lighting and HVAC systems throughout the facility.

"Securing this contract with one of Canada's most prestigious healthcare networks reinforces Austco's position as a leader in delivering innovative, scalable solutions for complex hospital environments," said Clayton Astles, CEO of Austco Healthcare. "It demonstrates the growing confidence in our technology across global markets and contributes meaningfully to our North American growth strategy and long-term revenue pipeline."

This latest project strengthens Austco's expanding presence in North America and enhances its reputation as a trusted provider of integrated nurse call and clinical communication solutions for complex hospital environments.

This announcement has been approved for release by the Board of Austco Healthcare.
