Syrah loads breakbulk shipment and removes Balama force majeure

Syrah Resources Limited (ASX: SYR) (“Syrah” or “Company”) is pleased to announce loading of a large volume breakbulk shipment has commenced at Pemba port following production recommencement at its Balama Graphite Operation in Mozambique (“Balama”) last month. Container shipments from Nacala port, primarily of coarse flake for industrial customers, have also recommenced.

Loading of the 10kt shipment of Syrah fines natural graphite is expected to be completed this week, and the shipment will sail to an ex-China market destination. This breakbulk shipment marks an important milestone, following Balama site access being restored on 5 May 2025, recommencement of natural graphite production on 19 June 2025, and subsequent product restocking and transport from Balama to Pemba and Nacala ports.

Syrah is preparing for the next breakbulk shipment planned for customers in the USA before the end of the September 2025 quarter.

With the resumption of normal Balama operations and logistics supporting product transport and shipment loading, the Company’s Mozambican subsidiary Twigg Exploration and Mining, Limitada has provided notice to the Mozambican Government it has removed the force majeure declaration under the Mining Agreement<sup>1</sup>.
