Commenting on completion of the issuance, Managing Director Justin Werner said:

“We are very pleased to have completed this bond issuance, which marks a significant milestone for Nickel Industries. The transaction extends our debt maturities, reduces our cost of debt, repays our existing amortising notes and a portion of our existing amortising bank loans with new non-amortising notes, removing US$88 million in annual note amortisation.”

This outcome reflects the strength of our listed bond program and the confidence of our long-term debt holders, many of whom have increased their exposure to the Company. Importantly, the issuance attracted strong support from global investors, including from North America and Europe, underscoring the growing international recognition of our business and long-term strategy.”
