3.4 Effect on control of the Company

Options do not convey ownership in the Company until exercised. Accordingly, the grant of the SPP Options and Placement Options will not have a material effect on control on the date of grant.

The exercise of the SPP Options and Placement Options will dilute the percentage of Shares which are held by existing shareholders who do not exercise Options or are not eligible to receive Options (see sections 3.2 and 3.3 above for further detail on impact of capital structure).

3.5 Effect on financial position

No funds will be raised under the Options Offers (other than funds raised if the Options are subsequently exercised). If all the SPP and Options Offer are fully subscribed and all SPP Options and Placement Options are exercised, the Company will receive $8,963,584.96 (before costs).

The Company is unable to specify with any certainty the extent of any change to the balance sheet given the uncertainty around the number of Attaching Options to be ultimately granted and whether and when the Attaching Options will be exercised.

4 Risks

4.1 GENERAL

There are a number of factors, both specific to the Company and of a general nature, which may affect the future operating and financial performance of the Company, its products, the industry in which it operates and the outcome of an investment in the Company. There can be no guarantee that the Company will achieve its stated objectives or that forward-looking statements will be realised.

This section describes certain, but not all, risks associated with an investment in the Company. Each of the risks set out below could, if it eventuates, have a materially adverse impact on the Company's operating performance, financial performance, financial position, liquidity, and the value of its shares and options.

4.2 SPECIFIC RISK FACTORS

The Directors believe that there are a number of specific factors that should be considered. Each of these factors could have a materially adverse impact on the Company, its expansion plans, operating and product strategies and its financial performance and position. These include:

(a) Funding

At the date of this Prospectus, the Company has no income producing assets. The Company's business model is to raise funds either through equity or debt to develop and construct the Project. Until the Company is able to generate positive cash flow, it is dependent upon being able to obtain future equity or debt funding including the issue of new shares or through debt funding arrangements.

The Company has received approximately $19.6 million in funding from the Placement and Tranche One of the Cornerstone Investment, and expects to receive a further $43 million in funding from the SPP, Tranche Two and Tranche Three of the Cornerstone Investment, placement to NC New Energy Limited (an associate of Mr Brett Tang) and a loan facility from the Cornerstone Investors.

However, there is no assurance that this funding will be sufficient for the Company to complete development of its Project, and further funding may be required by the Company in the event that costs exceed estimates. Accordingly, the Company may need to engage in further equity or debt financings to secure additional funds. Any additional equity financing may be dilutive to Shareholders, may be undertaken at lower prices than the issue price under the Placement and SPP, or may involve restrictive covenants that limit the Company's operations or business strategy.

There can be no assurance that such funding will be available on satisfactory terms or at all at the relevant time. Any inability to obtain sufficient financing for the Company's activities may result in delays or inability to complete the Project, which would likely have a material adverse impact on the Company.

(b) Gold price risk

The value of the Company is highly dependent on the prevailing gold price, which is subject to a number of factors that are outside of the control of the Company. Such factors include, but are not limited to, worldwide demand for gold and other metals, technological advancements, production costs, interest rates, currency exchange rates, production levels, inventories, speculators and producers of gold and global and regional political and economic factors. A decline in the prevailing gold price would have a material adverse effect on the economic viability or profitability of the Project, which would likely have material adverse effect on the Company.

(c) Mine construction, development and operation

There is a risk that the development and construction of the mine for the Project is not completed on schedule or that the construction cost exceeds the budget, or that significant problems in constructing the mines may arise resulting in a delay to commencement of production. The Company will be dependent on third party contractors to undertake construction, equipment supply, installation, commissioning and operation. There is a risk that one or more of these third parties will not perform its contractual obligations properly or at all.

The business of mine development and minerals production by its nature involves significant risk. Development of the Project, and subsequent minerals extraction, is dependent on a number of factors including, but not limited to, favourable geological conditions, receiving necessary approvals from all relevant authorities and parties, seasonal weather patterns, unanticipated technical and operation difficulties encountered in development and production activities, mechanical failures of operating plant and equipment, shortages or increases in the price of consumables, spare parts and plant and equipment, cost overruns, industrial disputes, availability and economic supply of water and power, access to the required level of funding and contracting risk from third parties providing essential services.

There is a risk that the Company will be unable to complete the Project within the anticipated budget or timeframes or operate the Project profitably. No assurance can be given that the Company will achieve commercial viability through the development and operation of the Project.

(d) Resource estimation

Resources estimates are expressions of judgement based on knowledge, experience and resource modelling. As such, resource estimates are inherently imprecise and rely to some extent on interpretations made. Despite employing qualified professionals to prepare resource estimates, such estimates may nevertheless prove to be inaccurate.

Furthermore, resource estimates may change over time as new information becomes available. Should the Company encounter mineralisation or geological formation different from those predicated by past drilling, sampling and interpretations, resources estimates may need to be altered in a way that could adversely affect the Company's business plan and operations.

(e) Regulatory and compliance risk

Regulatory compliance refers to the process of ensuring that the Company operations, activities, and practices align with the relevant laws, regulations, and industry standards. In South Africa, Companies must comply with a wide range of regulations spanning various sectors, including financial regulations, labour regulations, health and safety, environmental regulations and protection as well as those that directly relate to the permitting and approvals of its mining leases and environmental permits. Failure to comply with applicable laws or regulations could result in fines, penalties or other sanctions, including suspension or forfeiture of rights, which could adversely affect the Company operations and financial performance.

(f) Sovereign Risk

The Company's Project is located in South Africa which has from time to time experienced political, economic and social instability. The Company may be affected by possible political, social or economic instability and the related risks, including, amongst other things, security concerns, labour disputes, government policy with respect to exploration, mining labour, monetary and fiscal issues and fluctuations in currency exchange rates.

Changes to government laws and regulations with respect to restrictions on production, price controls, export controls, income taxes, expropriation of property, nationalisation of property, maintenance of claims, environmental legislation, land use, land claims, water use and mine safety, or a combination of any of these factors could materially and adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition and results of activities and operations.

Potential risk to the Company's activities and operations may occur if there are changes to the political, legal and fiscal systems which might affect the ownership and operation of the Company's interests in South Africa. This may include changes in exchange control systems, expropriation of mining rights, changes in government and legislative and regulatory regimes.

(g) Increased risk to investments in developing countries

Investors of securities of issuers who are conducting business in developing countries should be aware that these investments are generally subject to greater risk than investments in securities of issuers from more developed countries and carry risks that are not typically associated with investing in more mature markets. These risks include, but are not limited to, greater political risk, budget deficits, lack of adequate infrastructure necessary to sustain economic growth and changes in the political and economic environment.

(h) Dividends

There is no guarantee as to future earnings of the Company or that the Company will be profitable at any time in the future, and there is no guarantee that the Company will be in a financial position to pay dividends at any time in the future.

(i) Unforeseen expenditure risk

Expenditure may need to be incurred in relation to the Project that has not been taken into account in forecasting the funding required to complete the Project. If such expenditure is subsequently incurred, this may adversely affect the Company's ability to execute its business plan and complete the Project.

(j) Personnel risk

The Company may not be able to successfully recruit and retain skilled employees, particularly scientific, technical and management professionals. The Company believes that its future success will depend in large part on its ability to attract and retain highly skilled technical and managerial personnel who are familiar mine development and the mining industry.

The Company cannot be certain that it will be successful in attracting and retaining the skilled personnel necessary to develop and operate the Project effectively in the future. The loss of, or inability to recruit, key personnel could have a material adverse impact on the Company

(k) Occupational Health and Safety

All industries, including mine development and minerals extraction, face health and safety risks from operational activities, which include personal injury, damage to property and equipment and other losses. The occurrence of any of these risks could result in legal proceedings against the Company and/or key personnel and substantial losses to the Company due to injury or loss of life, damage or destruction to property, regulatory investigations, and penalties or suspension of operations. Damage occurring to third parties as a result of such risks may give rise to claims against the Company.

The occurrence of any one or more of these events could have a material adverse effect on the Company's activities and operations and consequently financial performance.

(l) Environmental Risks

The operations of the Company have historically been, and will in future be subject to extensive environmental laws and regulations. The Company uses and will continue to use all reasonable endeavours to comply with the environmental, legal and regulatory requirements, however, these laws are complex and there is a risk of inadvertent non-compliance by the Company.

The activities of the Company impact upon the environment and it is anticipated that any advanced mine development will impact the environment further. There is a risk that any mining operations undertaken by the Company may create environmental risks, particularly with respect to environmental damage through construction activities, disposal of waste products and/or water contamination. Such occurrences could delay production or increase costs of operations.

Natural events such as excessive rain, floods storms or bushfires could adversely affect the Company's operations and ongoing compliance with environmental laws and regulations. Breaches of environmental legal and regulatory requirements may result in fines, damages, clean-up costs and other penalties against the Company.

The Company will also be required to rehabilitate the environment in respect of the damage its activities cause (if any) and/or complete rehabilitation programs contracted to be undertaken with or on behalf of third parties. There is risk that the quantum of funds to be expended on such rehabilitation works may exceed the funds the Company anticipated would be required or generated by the relevant activity or program, or has available at the time payment.

(m) Third party risk

The Company will rely significantly on strategic relationships with other entities and on maintaining a good working relationship with regulatory and government departments and other relevant stakeholders. The Company will also be reliant on third parties to provide essential contracting services in relation to development and operation of its Project. There can be no assurance that its existing relationships will be maintained or that new essential contracting relationships will be established on terms acceptable to the Company.

Any inability on the part of the Company to maintain or secure relevant essential relationships could adversely impact on the development of the Company's Project and the Company's financial performance.

(n) Exchange rates

The Company is potentially exposed to movements in exchange rates. The Company's financial statements are expressed and maintained in Australian dollars. However, a portion of the Company's income and costs are earned in foreign currencies and this proportion may increase materially. Exchange rate movements affecting these currencies may impact the profit and loss account or assets and liabilities of the Company (to the extent the foreign exchange rate risk is not hedged or not appropriately hedged).

(o) Potential for dilution

On completion of the Capital Raising (assuming the Subscription Assumptions), the number of Shares in the Company will increase from 1,045,980,974 to 1,267,368,408 and the number of performance rights and options will increase from 104,213,033 to 290,328,871. This means that each Share will represent a significantly lower proportion of the ownership of the Company.

4.3 GENERAL RISK FACTORS

(a) Share market and liquidity risk

No assurances can be given of the price at which the Attaching Options offered under the Options Offers will trade or that they will trade at all.

The Shares may trade on the ASX at higher or lower prices than the exercise price of the Attaching Options. Investors who decide to exercise their Attaching Options and sell newly acquired Shares may not receive the amount paid to exercise the Attaching Option.

The price at which the Attaching Options or newly acquired shares trade on the ASX may be affected by the financial performance of the Company and by external factors over which the Directors and the Company have no control. These factors include movements on international share and commodity markets, local interest rates and exchange rates, domestic and international economic conditions, government taxation, market supply and demand and other legal, regulatory or policy changes.

(b) Dependence on general economic conditions

The operating and financial performance of the Company is influenced by a variety of general economic and business conditions, including levels of consumer spending, inflation, interest rates and exchange rates, access to debt and capital markets, government fiscal, monetary and regulatory policies.

A prolonged deterioration in general economic conditions, including an increase in interest rates or a decrease in consumer and business demand, could be expected to have a materially adverse impact on the Company's business or financial condition. Changes to laws and regulations or accounting standards which apply to the Company from time to time could adversely impact the Company's earnings and financial performance.

There are also other changes in the domestic and global macroeconomic environment that are beyond the control of the Company and may be exacerbated in an economic recession or downturn. These include but are not limited to (i) high inflation and rising interest rates; (ii) changes in foreign currency exchange rates; (iii) changes in employment levels and labour costs; (iv) changes in aggregate investment and economic output; (v) imposition of trade tariffs or other restrictions on international trade and (vi) other changes in economic condition which may affect the revenue or costs of the Company.

(c) Ukraine and Gaza Conflicts

The war between Ukraine and Russia (Ukraine Conflict) and Israel and Palestine (Gaza Conflict) is impacting global economic markets. The nature and extent of the effect of the Ukraine Conflict and Gaza Conflict on the performance of the Company remains unknown. The Company's Share price may be adversely affected in the short to medium term by the economic uncertainty caused by the Ukraine Conflict and Gaza Conflict.

The Ukraine Conflict and Gaza Conflict has potential secondary and tertiary macroeconomic impacts, including the changes in pricing of commodity and energy markets, effects on global supply-chain and freight movements which would impact the supply of raw materials and delivery of finished goods and the potential of cyber activity impacting governmental or industry measures taken in response to the Ukraine Conflict and Gaza Conflict.

(d) Tax risk

Any change to the company income tax rate in jurisdictions in which the Company operates will impact on shareholder returns, as will any change to the income tax rates applying to individuals or trusts. Any change to the tax arrangements between Australia and other jurisdictions could have an adverse impact on future earnings and the level of dividend franking.

(e) Legislative and regulatory changes

Legislative or regulatory changes in jurisdictions in which the Company operates, including property or environmental regulations or regulatory changes in relation to products sold by the Company, could have an adverse impact on the Company.

4.4 Investment speculative

The above list of risk factors ought not to be taken as exhaustive of the risks faced by the Company or by investors in the Company. The above factors, and others not specifically referred to above, may in the future materially affect the financial performance of the Company and the value of securities held in the Company.

Therefore, the Attaching Options to be issued under this Prospectus (and any Shares issued by exercise of those Attaching Options) carry no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, returns of capital or the market value of the Shares upon conversion of the Options.

Potential investors should consider an investment in the Company as highly speculative and should consult their professional advisor before deciding whether to apply for Attaching Options under this Prospectus.
