On 12 September 2025, the Company announced to ASX that it had received firm commitments to raise $3.1 million (before costs) via a two-tranche placement of 295,238,095 new fully paid ordinary shares (New Shares) to new and existing Institutional and Sophisticated Investors and the Directors (Placement Investors) at an issue price of $0.0105 per New Share (Placement).

The Placement was conducted as follows:

- (a) Tranche 1:
  - (i) 112,186,598 New Shares issued on 18 September 2025 pursuant to the Company's placement capacity under Listing Rule 7.1;
  - (ii) 77,813,402 New Shares issued on 18 September 2025 pursuant to the Company's placement capacity under ASX Listing Rule 7.1A; and

As noted in the Placement Announcement, the terms of the Placement also provided that one free attaching quoted Option in the Company (New Option) would be issued to the Placement Investors for every two New Shares allocated under the Placement.

Funds raised under the Placement will be used, amongst other things, for the maiden drilling programme at the Company's Zopkhito Antimony-Gold Project in Georgia (Project).

The Company's Board of Directors participated in the Placement for a total of 5,000,000 New Shares and 2,500,000 New Options, which were subject to shareholder approval (Director Participation). Shareholder approval for the Director Participation was obtained at the General Meeting. The allocation of Placement Options to the Directors is as follows:

- (a) up to 1,000,000 New Options to Mr Colin Locke;

2 Purpose and Effect of the Offers

2.1 Purpose of the Offers

The purpose of the Offers is to reward the Investor Participants for supporting the Placement and to align those key investors and advisors with the Company, and as part consideration for services in connection with the Placement (for the Placement Options Offer and the Lead Managers Options Offer, respectively). The Offers are not expected to have a material impact on the Company's financial position other than the decrease in cash reserves of approximately $35,000 resulting from the expenses of the Offers.

A maximum of approximately $4.7m (before costs) would be raised if all New Options are exercised. The Company intends that any capital raised through the exercise of New Options will be used to strengthen the Company's balance sheet, to provide flexibility to support its future growth and for general working capital.

2.2 Financial effect of the Offers

No funds will be raised from the Offers as the Offers are under this Prospectus are being issued for nil cash consideration. However, if all Options are exercised into Shares, the Company will receive approximately $4.7m (before costs).

The expenses of the Offers are estimated to be approximately $35,000 (excluding GST). The expenses of the Offers will be met utilising the Company's existing cash reserves.

Accordingly, the immediate financial effect of the Offers will be to reduce the Company's existing cash reserves by $35,000.

2.3 Effect of the Offers on capital structure

For personal use only

3 Risk Factors

The New Options offered under this Prospectus should be considered speculative because of the nature of the business activities of the Company and no assurances can be made that the Company's particular interests or projects will be successful. Potential investors should consider whether the New Options offered are a suitable investment having regard to their own personal investment objectives and financial circumstances and the risk factors detailed below.

This list is not exhaustive and potential investors should read this Prospectus in its entirety and if in any doubt consult their professional adviser before deciding whether to participate in the Offers.

3.1 Specific Risks Associated with the Company

Applicants should be aware of the risks specific to an investment in the Company, which may include, but are not limited to those risks detailed below:

(a) Additional Requirements for Capital

As a junior exploration and development company, the Company's activities will require substantial ongoing expenditure.

The Company's capital requirements depend on numerous factors. Depending on the Company's ability to generate income from its operations, the Company may seek to raise further funds through equity or debt financing, joint ventures, production sharing arrangements or other means. Failure to obtain sufficient financing for the Company's activities and future projects may result in delay and indefinite postponement of exploration, development or production on the Company's properties, or even loss of a property interest. There can be no assurance that additional finance will be available when needed or, if available, the terms of the financing might not be favourable to the Company and might involve substantial dilution to shareholders.

Loan agreements and other financing rearrangements such as debt facilities, convertible note issues and finance leases (and any related guarantee and security) that may be entered into by the Company may contain covenants, undertakings and other provisions which, if breached, may entitle lenders to accelerate repayment of loans and there is no assurance that the Company would be able to repay such loans in the event of an acceleration. Enforcement of any security granted by the Company or default under a finance lease could also result in the loss of assets.

There can be no assurances that the Company will be able to obtain additional resources on terms acceptable to the Company or at all after the substantial exhaustion of the net proceeds of the Placement. Any additional equity financing may be dilutive to Shareholders and any debt financing if available may involve restrictive covenants, which may limit the Company's operations and business strategy.

The Company's failure to raise funding if and when needed could delay or suspend the Company's business strategy, could have a material adverse effect on the Company's activities and affect the Company's ability to continue as a going concern.

(b) Sovereign Risks

The Company has exploration projects located outside Australia in Georgia, including the Project. There are risks associated with operating in jurisdictions outside Australia, including, but not limited to, economic, social or political instability or change, hyperinflation, currency instability and changes of law affecting foreign ownership, government participation, taxation, working conditions, royalty arrangements, mining, rates of exchange, export duties, mine safety, labour relations, exploration licensing, environmental protection, as well as government control over mineral properties or government regulations that require the employment of local residents or contractors. In addition, changes to exploration, mining or investment policies or a shift in political attitude in the jurisdictions in which the Company operates may have a material adverse effect on the Company, including the Company's ability to raise additional equity and debt funding. Any of these factors may, in the future, adversely affect the financial performance of the Company and the market price of the Company's securities. No assurance can be given regarding future stability in any country in which the Company operates.

(c) New Projects and Acquisitions Risk

The Company may pursue and assess other new business opportunities in the resources sector. These new business opportunities may take the form of direct project or asset acquisitions, joint ventures, farm-ins, acquisition of tenements / permits, merger with or acquisition of another business/company and/or direct equity participation.

The acquisition of projects, businesses/companies or assets (whether completed or not) may require the payment of monies (as a deposit and/or exclusivity fee) after only limited due diligence or prior to the completion of comprehensive due diligence. There can be no guarantee that any proposed acquisition will be completed or be successful. If a proposed acquisition is not completed, monies advanced may not be recoverable, which may have an adverse effect on the Company.

If an acquisition is completed, the Directors will need to reassess at that time, the funding allocated to existing and new projects, which may result in the Company reallocating funds from the existing projects and/or raising additional capital (if available).

Furthermore, notwithstanding that an acquisition may proceed upon the completion of due diligence, the usual risks associated with the new project/business activities will remain.

(d) No Production Revenues

At present, the Company is not generating any revenues from its projects. The Company expects to continue to incur losses unless and until such time as one or more of its projects enters into commercial production and generates sufficient revenues to fund its continuing operations.

(e) Title and Access

Interests in exploration and mining tenements held by the Company are evidenced by the granting of licences, leases, permits or authorities.

Each of the tenements the Company has an interest in has been granted for a specific term and generally speaking, carries rental, annual expenditure and reporting commitments, as well as other conditions imposed under the relevant regulation applying in the jurisdiction the tenement is situated. The Company could face penalties, lose title to or its interest in tenements, or any other tenements that may be acquired by the Company in the future, if such conditions are not met or if insufficient funds are available to meet expenditure commitments.

The Company's rights in tenements may be obtained by grant by regulatory authorities or be subject to contracts with third parties. Any third party may terminate or rescind the relevant agreement whether lawfully or not and, accordingly, the Company may lose its rights to exclusive use of, and access to any, or all, of the tenements. Third parties may also default on their obligations under the contracts which may lead to termination of the contracts.

The maintaining of tenements, obtaining renewals, or getting tenements granted, often depends on the Company being successful in obtaining the required statutory approvals for its proposed activities and that the licences, concessions, leases, permits or consents it holds will be renewed as and when required. There is no assurance that such renewals will be given as a matter of course and there is no assurance that new conditions will not be imposed. In respect of the Company's interest in the Project, the vendors have provided an extension to the option period which will expire in late 2026. Subject to Resolution of the Government of Georgia N464 of 2025 coming into force in Georgia, the Government of Georgia may extend the exploration expiry date to 2028, subject to the Company satisfying several requirements.

Additionally, the Company may not be able to access its tenements due to natural disasters or adverse weather conditions, political unrest, hostilities or failure to obtain the relevant approvals and consents.

(f) Resource Estimates

Resource estimates are expressions of judgment based on knowledge, experience and industry practice. Estimates which were valid when originally calculated may alter significantly when new information or techniques become available. In addition, by their very nature, resource estimates are imprecise and depend to some extent on interpretations, which may prove to be inaccurate. As further information becomes available through additional fieldwork and analysis, estimates are likely to change. This may result in alterations to development and mining plans which may, in turn, adversely affect the Company's operations.

(g) Metallurgy

Metal and/or mineral recoveries are dependent upon the metallurgical process that is required to extract economic minerals and produce a saleable product, and by nature, the development of suitable metallurgical extraction techniques contain elements of significant risk such as identifying a metallurgical process through test work to produce a saleable metal, and/or concentrate or intermediate; developing an economic process route to produce a metal and/or concentrate; and changes in mineralogy in the ore deposit can result in inconsistent metal recovery, affecting the economic viability of the project.

(h) Operational

The operations of the Company may be affected by various factors, including failure to locate or identify mineral deposits, failure to achieve predicted grades in exploration and mining, operational and technical difficulties encountered in mining, insufficient or unreliable infrastructure such as power, water and transport, difficulties in commissioning and operating plant and equipment, mechanical failure or plant breakdown, unanticipated metallurgical challenges which may affect performance and extraction costs, adverse weather conditions, industrial and environmental accidents, industrial disputes and unexpected shortages or increases in the costs of consumables, spare parts, plant and equipment.

In the event that any of these potential risks eventuate, the Company's operational and financial performance may be adversely affected. No assurances can be given that the Company will achieve commercial viability through the successful exploration and/or mining and metallurgical processing of its tenement interests.

Until the Company is able to realise value from its projects, it is likely to incur ongoing operating losses.

(i) Exploration and Development Risk

Mineral exploration and development are high-risk undertakings, and there is no assurance that exploration of the Company's tenements will result in the discovery of an economic deposit. Even if an apparently viable deposit is identified, there is no guarantee that it can be economically exploited.

The future exploration activities of the Company may be affected by a range of factors, including geological conditions, limitations on activities due to seasonal weather patterns, unanticipated operational and technical difficulties, industrial and environmental accidents, native title process, changing government regulations and many other factors beyond the control of the Company. In the event that exploration programs prove to be unsuccessful, this could lead to a diminution in the value of the tenements and possible relinquishment of the tenements.

(j) Native Title and Aboriginal Heritage Risk

It is possible that, in relation to tenements in Australia which the Company has an interest in or will in the future acquire such an interest, there may be areas over which legitimate common law native title rights of Indigenous Australians exist. If native title rights do exist, the ability of the Company to gain access to tenements (through obtaining consent of any relevant landowner), or to progress from the exploration phase to the development and mining phases of operations, may be affected and this may have an adverse impact on the Company's activities.

There is a risk that Aboriginal sites and objects may exist on the land the subject of the Company's Australian tenements, the existence of which may preclude or limit activities in certain areas of the Company's tenements.

(k) Mine development

Possible future development of a mining operation at any of the Company's projects is dependent on a number of factors including, but not limited to, the acquisition and/or delineation of economically recoverable mineralisation, favourable geological conditions, receiving the necessary approvals from all relevant authorities and parties, seasonal weather patterns, unanticipated technical and operational difficulties encountered in mining and metallurgical extraction and production activities, mechanical failure of operating plant and equipment, shortages or increases in the price of consumables, spare parts and plant and equipment, cost overruns, access to the required level of funding and contracting risk from third parties providing essential services.

If the Company commences production, its operations may be disrupted by a variety of risks and hazards which are beyond its control, including environmental hazards, industrial accidents, technical failures, labour disputes, unusual or unexpected rock formations, flooding and extended interruptions due to inclement of hazardous weather conditions and fires, explosions or accidents. No assurance can be given that the Company will achieve commercial viability through the development or mining and metallurgical processing of its projects. The risks associated with the development of a mine will be considered in full should the Company's projects reach that stage and will be managed with ongoing consideration of stakeholder interests.

(l) Commodity price and exchange rate

To the extent the Company is involved in mineral production the revenue derived through the sale of commodities may expose the potential income of the Company to commodity price and exchange rate risks. The prices of commodities which the Company is targeting fluctuate widely and are affected by numerous factors beyond the control of the Company, such as industrial and retail supply and demand, exchange rates, inflation rates, changes in global economies, confidence in the global monetary system, market sentiment, futures markets, forward sales of metals by producers and speculators, stockpiling and destocking of metals as well as other global or regional political, social or economic events.

Future serious price declines in the market values of Company targeted commodities could cause the development of, and eventually the commercial production from, the Company's projects to be rendered uneconomic. Depending on the prices of commodities, the Company could be forced to discontinue production or development and may lose its interest in, or may be forced to sell, some of its properties.

Furthermore, international prices of various commodities are denominated in United States dollars, whereas the income and expenditure of the Company are and will be taken into account in Australian currency, exposing the Company to the fluctuations and volatility of the rate of exchange between the United States dollar and the Australian dollar as determined in international markets.

(m) Environmental

The Company's projects are subject to rules and regulations regarding environmental matters and the discharge of hazardous wastes and materials. As with all mineral projects, the Company's projects are expected to have a variety of environmental impacts should development proceed. Development of any of the Company's projects will be dependent on the Company satisfying environmental guidelines and, where required, being approved by government authorities. The Company intends to conduct its activities in an environmentally responsible manner and in accordance with all applicable laws, but may still be subject to accidents or other unforeseen events which may compromise its environmental performance and which may have adverse financial implications.

(n) Climate Risk

There are a number of climate-related factors that may affect the operations and proposed activities of the Company. The climate change risks particularly attributable to the Company include:

- (i) the emergence of new or expanded regulations associated with the transitioning to a lower-carbon economy and market changes related to climate change mitigation. The Company may be impacted by changes to local or international compliance regulations related to climate change mitigation efforts, or by specific taxation or penalties for carbon emissions or environmental damage. These examples sit amongst an array of possible restraints on industry that may further impact the Company and its profitability. While the Company will endeavour to manage these risks and limit any consequential impacts, there can be no guarantee that the Company will not be impacted by these occurrences; and

- (ii) change may cause certain physical and environmental risks that cannot be predicted by the Company, including events such as increased severity of weather patterns and incidence of extreme weather events and longer-term physical risks such as shifting climate patterns. All these risks associated with climate change may significantly change the industry in which the Company operates.

(o) Competition

Competition from other international gold, silver and antimony producers and explorers may affect the potential future cash flow and earnings which the Company may realise from its projects. This includes competition from existing production and new entrants into the market. The introduction of new mining and processing facilities and any increase in competition and supply in the global graphite market could lower the price of this commodity. The Company may also encounter competition from other mining and exploration or anode companies for the acquisition of new projects required to sustain or increase its potential future production levels. The Company's downstream operation may also be impacted by new entrants to the market, or existing graphite and/or anode producers, pursuing a similar strategy.

3.2 General Risks

A summary of the major general risks are detailed below:

(a) General Economic Conditions

The operating and financial performance of the Company is influenced by a variety of general economic and business conditions, including levels of consumer spending, commodity prices, inflation, interest rates and exchange rates, supply and demand, industrial disruption, access to debt and capital markets and government fiscal, monetary and regulatory policies. Changes in general economic conditions may result from many factors including government policy, international economic conditions, significant acts of terrorism, hostilities or war or natural disasters. A prolonged deterioration in general economic conditions, including an increase in interest rates or a decrease in consumer and business demand, may have an adverse impact on the Company's operating and financial performance and financial position. The Company's future possible revenues and Share prices may be affected by these factors, which are beyond the control of the Company.

(b) Market conditions

The price of the shares of resource companies tends to be volatile. Fluctuations in the world price of gold, silver and antimony and many other elements beyond the control of the Company could materially affect the price of the Shares of the Company.

There can be no assurance that an active market for the Shares would be sustained after any offering of securities. Securities of companies with smaller capitalizations have experienced substantial volatility in the past, often based on factors unrelated to the financial performance or prospects of the companies involved. These factors include global economic developments and market perceptions of the attractiveness of certain industries. There can be no assurance that continuing fluctuations in price will not occur. If an active market for the Shares does not continue, the liquidity of a purchaser's investment may be limited. If such a market does not develop, purchasers may lose their entire investment in the Shares of the Company.

As a result of any of these factors, the market price of the Shares at any given point in time may not accurately reflect the long-term value of the Company. Securities class-action litigation often has been brought against companies following periods of volatility in the market price of their securities. The Company may in the future be the target of similar litigation. Securities litigation could result in substantial costs and damages, and also divert management's attention and resources.

(c) Contractual

If the Company enters into agreements with third parties for the acquisition or divestment of equity interests in mineral exploration and mining projects, there are no guarantees that any such contractual obligations will be satisfied in part or in full. The ability of the Company to achieve its stated objectives may be materially affected by the performance by the parties of obligations under certain agreements. The Directors are unable to predict the risk of financial failure or default by any third party. If any party defaults in the performance of its obligations, it may be necessary for the Company to approach a court to seek a legal remedy, which can be costly.

(d) Litigation and Infringement Risk

The Company may be involved in claims, litigation and disputes from time to time including in relation to contractual disputes, claims from local indigenous groups, tenure disputes, environmental claims, occupational health and safety claims, intellectual property disputes and employee claims. Claims, litigation and disputes can be costly, including amounts payable in respect of judgments and settlements made against, or agreed to by, the Company. They can also take up significant time and attention from management and the Board. Accordingly, the Company's involvement in claims, litigation and disputes may have an adverse impact on its financial performance.

(e) Key management

The responsibility of overseeing the day-to-day operations and the strategic management of the Company depends substantially on its senior management and its key personnel. The Company may be detrimentally affected if one or more of the key management or other personnel cease their engagement with the Company.

(f) Unforeseen expenditure risk

Expenditure may need to be incurred that has not been considered in the preparation of this Prospectus. Although the Company is not aware of any such additional expenditure requirements, if such expenditure is subsequently incurred, this may adversely affect the expenditure proposals of the Company.

(g) Infrastructure

Mining, processing, development, and exploration activities depend, to one degree or another, on adequate infrastructure. Reliable roads, bridges, power sources, and water supplies, as well as the location of population centres and pools of labour, are important determinants, which affect capital and operating costs. Unusual or infrequent weather phenomena, sabotage, government or other interference in the maintenance or provision of such infrastructure could impact the Company's ability to explore its properties, thereby adversely affecting its business and financial condition.

(h) Policies and Legislation

Any material adverse changes in government policies or legislation of Australia or Georgia or any other country that the Company has economic interests may affect the prospects and profitability of the Company.

(i) Force Majeure

Force majeure is a term used to refer to an event beyond the control of a party claiming that the event has occurred. Significant catastrophic events – such as war, acts of terrorism, pandemics, loss of power, cyber security breaches or global threats – or natural disasters - such as earthquakes, fires (including forest fires) or floods or the outbreak of epidemic disease – could disrupt the Company's operations and interrupt critical functions, or otherwise harm the business. To the extent that such disruptions or uncertainties result in delays or cancellations of the deployment of the Company's products and solutions, its business, results of operations and financial condition could be harmed.

(j) Risks relating to holding New Options

The Company's Share price may not exceed the exercise price of the New Options during the exercise period. In such circumstances, an Option holder is likely to let the New Options lapse without any value being realised.

Subject to the Corporations Act, the Company must issue or transfer to the Option holder one Share on exercise of a New Option within 5 Business Days of the date on which the New Option exercise took effect. There is a risk that the Company's Share price may fall below the exercise price during the period between exercise of the New Option and issue or transfer of Shares. In addition, where an Option holder exercises a New Option within 5 Business Days of a record date for a future dividend or other corporate action undertaken by the Company, there is a risk that the Option holder may not be issued or transferred Shares until after the relevant record date for determining entitlements has passed and will therefore be unable to participate in the future dividend or other corporate action.

(k) Public Company Obligations

As a publicly listed corporate entity, the Company is subject to evolving rules and regulations promulgated by a number of governmental and self-regulated organizations, including the ASX, which govern corporate governance and public disclosure regulations. These rules and regulations continue to evolve in scope and complexity creating many new requirements, which increase compliance costs and the risk of non-compliance. The Company's efforts to comply with these rules and obligations could result in increased general and administration expenses and a diversion of management time and attention from financing, development, operations and, eventually, revenue-generating activities.

(l) Taxation

The acquisition and disposal of New Options may have tax consequences, which will differ depending on the individual financial affairs of each Investor. All potential investors in the Company are urged to obtain independent financial and tax advice about the consequences of acquiring New Options from a taxation viewpoint and generally.

3.3 Investment Speculative

The above list of risk factors ought not to be taken as exhaustive of the risks faced by the Company or by investors in the Company. The above factors and others not specifically referred to above, may, in the future, materially affect the financial performance of the Company and the value of the New Options offered under this Prospectus. Therefore, the New Options carry no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, returns of capital or the market value of those New Options.

Potential investors should consider that any investment in the Company is highly speculative and should consult their professional advisers before deciding whether to apply for New Options.

4 Additional Information

4.1 Rights and Liabilities Attaching to Shares on Exercise of New Options

A summary of the rights attaching to Shares on the exercise of New Options, is detailed below. This summary is qualified by the full terms of the Constitution (a full copy of the Constitution is available from the Company on request free of charge) and does not purport to be exhaustive or to constitute a definitive statement of the rights and liabilities of Shareholders. These rights and liabilities can involve complex questions of law arising from an interaction of the Constitution with statutory and common law requirements. For a Shareholder to obtain a definitive assessment of the rights and liabilities that attach to Shares on the exercise of New Options, in any specific circumstances, the Shareholder should seek legal advice.

- (a) (Voting Rights): Subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to any class or classes of Shares, whether by their issue, the Constitution, the Listing Rules or the Corporations Act, at a general meeting each Shareholder present in person or by proxy, company representative or attorney, is entitled to one vote on a show of hands. Upon a poll, every Shareholder present in person or by proxy, company representative or attorney, is entitled to one vote for each Share that the Shareholder holds.
- (b) (General Meetings): Each Shareholder is entitled to receive notice of and to be present, to vote and to speak at a general meeting of the Company. Further, each Shareholder is entitled to receive all notices, accounts and other documents required to be furnished to Shareholders under the Constitution, the Listing Rules or the Corporations Act.
- (c) (Dividend Rights): The Directors may, subject to the Corporations Act, Constitution and terms of issue or rights of any shares with special rights to dividends, determine or declare that a dividend is payable, fix the amount and the time for payment and authorise the payment or crediting by the Company to, or at the direction of, each Shareholder entitled to that dividend. The Company does not expect to pay dividends in the short to medium term.
- (d) (Transfer of Shares): Subject to the Constitution, the Corporations Act, the ASX Settlement Operating Rules and the Listing Rules, Shares are freely transferable. Shares may be transferred as set out in the Constitution, including by way of a market transfer. The Company may decline to register a transfer (other than a market transfer) where permitted by law, the Listing Rules or the ASX Settlement Operating Rules.
- (e) (Changes in capital): Subject to the Corporations Act, the Constitution and the Listing Rules, the Directors may consolidate, or divide the Shares, allot, issue or otherwise dispose of new Shares on such terms and conditions as they determine.
- (f) (Variation of Rights): The Company may only modify or vary the rights attaching to any class of Shares with the consent in writing of three quarters of the issued shares of that class or by a special resolution of the Company passed at a meeting of the holders of the issued Shares of that class.
- (g) (Rights on winding-up): If the Company is wound up, the liquidator may, with the authority of a special resolution of the Company, divide among the shareholders in kind the whole or any part of the property of the Company, and may for that purpose set such value as he considers fair upon any property to be so divided, and may determine how the division is to be carried out as between the shareholders or different classes of shareholders. The liquidator may, with the authority of a special resolution of the Company, vest the whole or any part of any such property in trustees upon such trusts for the benefit of the contributories as the liquidator thinks fit, but so that no shareholder is compelled to accept any shares or other securities in respect of which there is any liability. Where an order is made for the winding up of the Company or it is resolved by special resolution to wind up the Company, then on a distribution of assets to members, any shares classified as restricted securities at the time of the commencement of the winding up shall rank in priority after all other shares.

- (h) (Election of Directors): There must be a minimum of 3 but not more than 10 Directors. At every annual general meeting one third of the Directors (rounded to the nearest whole number) must retire from office. If the Company has less than 3 Directors, one Director must retire from office together with any Director who would have held office for more than 3 years if that Director remains in office until the next general meeting. These retirement rules do not apply to certain appointments including the managing director.
- (i) (Indemnities): To the extent permitted by law the Company must indemnify every officer, auditor or agent of the Company out of the property of the Company against any liability incurred by him or her in their capacity as officer, auditor or agent of the Company or any related corporation in respect of any act or omission whatsoever and howsoever occurring or in defending any proceeding, whether civil or criminal.
- (j) (Shareholder Liability): As the New Options issued under the Offers detailed in this Prospectus will become fully paid Shares upon exercise, they are not subject to any calls for money by the Directors and will therefore not become liable for forfeiture.
- (k) (Alteration of Constitution): The Constitution can only be amended by a special resolution passed by at least three quarters of Shareholders present and voting at the general meeting. In addition, at least 28 days written notice specifying the intention to propose the resolution as a special resolution must be given.
- (l) (Listing Rules): If the Company is admitted to trading on the official list, then despite anything in the Constitution, if the Listing Rules prohibit an act being done, the act must not be done. Nothing in the Constitution prevents an act being done that the Listing Rules require to be done. If the Listing Rules require an act to be done or not to be done, authority is given for that act to be done or not to be done (as the case may be). If the Listing Rules require the Constitution to contain a provision and it does not contain such a provision, the Constitution is deemed to contain that provision. If the Listing Rules require the Constitution not to contain a provision and it contains such a provision, the Constitution is deemed not to contain that provision. If a provision of the Constitution is inconsistent with the Listing Rules, the Constitution is deemed not to contain that provision to the extent of the inconsistency.

consistent with the Corporations Act and the Listing Rules at the time of the reconstruction.

- (n) (Participation in new issues): There are no participation rights or entitlements inherent in the New Options and holders will not be entitled to participate in new issues of capital offered to Shareholders during the currency of the New Options without exercising the Options.
- (o) (Adjustment for bonus issues of Shares): If the Company makes a bonus issue of Shares or other securities to existing Shareholders (other than an issue in lieu or in satisfaction of dividends or by way of dividend reinvestment):

  - (ii) no change will be made to the Exercise Price.

4.3 Company is a Disclosing Entity

The Company is a 'disclosing entity' (as defined in section 111AC of the Corporations Act) for the purposes of section 713 of the Corporations Act, and, as such, is subject to regular reporting and disclosure obligations. Specifically, like all listed companies, the Company is required to continuously disclose any information it has to the market which a reasonable person would expect to have a material effect on the price or the value of the Company's securities. Shares issued upon the exercise of New Options, will be in the same class as Shares that have been quoted on the official list of the ASX during the three months prior to the issue of this Prospectus.

This Prospectus is a 'transaction specific prospectus' to which the special content rules under section 713 of the Corporations Act apply. That provision allows the issue of a more concise prospectus in relation to an offer of securities, or operation to acquire securities, in a class which has been continuously quoted by ASX in the three months prior to the date of the prospectus. In general terms 'transaction specific prospectuses' are only required to contain information in relation to the effect of the issue of New Securities on the Company and the rights attaching to the New Options. It is not necessary to include general information in relation to all of the assets and liabilities, the financial position, profits and losses or prospects of the Company.

This Prospectus is intended to be read in conjunction with the publicly available information in relation to the Company which has been notified to ASX and does not include all of the information that would be included in a prospectus for an initial public offering of securities in an entity that is not already listed on a stock exchange. Investors should therefore have regard to the other publicly available information in relation to the Company before making a decision whether or not to invest.

Having taken such precautions and having made such enquires as are reasonable, the Company believes that it has complied with the general and specific requirements of ASX as applicable from time to time throughout the three months before the issue of this Prospectus which required the Company to notify ASX of information about specified events or matters as they arise for the purpose of ASX making that information available to the stock market conducted by ASX.

Information that is already in the public domain has not been reported in this Prospectus other than that which is considered necessary to make this Prospectus complete.
