The next three to four months will be pivotal for the Company which some transformational milestones materialising that we are confident will deliver considerable value for shareholders.”*

Use of Funds

Funds will be utilised to advance the exploration and development of the Santa Barbara phosphate project, prepare the Tres Estradas project for phosphate production in the next three months, provide additional working capital and deliver balance sheet strength.

Santa Barbara Gold Project – Colombia

The Santa Barbara Gold Project is a high-grade, underground gold operation in Colombia's Serranía de San Lucas belt, historically worked on mesothermal quartz veins with grades approaching one ounce per tonne. Underground development on the Santa Barbara and Mariana vein systems is ongoing.

Recent drilling, channel sampling and early production runs have confirmed strong continuity of high-grade mineralisation, underpinning plans for resource estimation and providing cash flow to help fund Aguia's broader South American project pipeline.

Tres Estradas Organic Phosphate Project – Brazil

The organic phosphate project centres on the Três Estradas deposit in Rio Grande do Sul, which hosts a 105 million tonne phosphate resource and will produce Aguia's natural fertiliser product, Pampafos™ for local farmers.

Aguia plans to truck ore to its leased Dagoberto Barcelos processing plant, initially targeting around 150,000–160,000 tonnes per annum of organic phosphate product and expanding towards 300,000 tonnes per annum by the end of 2026. Expanded production will come from locations < 10 km from the plant.

A 10-year (extendable) lease over the DB plant allows Aguia to avoid major greenfield capex, cut its time to market by several years, and ultimately target processing capacity of more than 300,000 tonnes per annum through incremental upgrades.
