ClearVue Managing Director and CEO, Douglas Hunt, commented:

“Launching the ClearVue Investor Hub is an important step in increasing transparency, enhancing corporate governance and extending access to important investor information. The platform will serve as a central source which will make it easy for investors and interested investors to remain up to date as ClearVue progresses its commercialisation strategy including global partner engagement, project updates and advancement of ClearVue’s mission to transform the built environment by turning traditional, passive building materials into active, renewable energy-generating surfaces. Maintaining open lines of communication is central to our strategy and the ClearVue Investor Hub will provide an easy way for our investors to engage with our leadership and board. I look forward to holding our first investor webinar on the new ClearVue Investor Hub on 20 February.”
