Insurer-backed expansion supports Emyria's first Victorian clinic, reinforcing the Company's national leadership in mental health care delivery.

- Medibank-funded expansion to Mornington Peninsula – Medibank Private Ltd (ASX: MPL) will fund screened and eligible customers to access Emyria's Empax Clinic programs for Treatment-Resistant Depression (TRD) and Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) when admitted to Avive Health's Mornington Peninsula licensed hospital.

- Mornington Peninsula operations commencing Q2 CY2026 – Two Authorised Prescriber applications are in process, with a well-received recruitment campaign completed and team training scheduled to commence in March.
- Expansion underpinned by strong clinical evidence – The recent release of positive 12-month data¹ confirms sustained patient outcomes and durability in the Empax treatment model as Emyria advances its 2026 national growth strategy.

Emyria Limited (ASX: EMD) ("Emyria", or the "Company"), a leader in developing and delivering mental health treatments, is pleased to announce Medibank Private Ltd (ASX: MPL) has further expanded its funding agreement to support screened and eligible customers accessing Emyria's Treatment-Resistant Depression (TRD) and Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) programs at the Company's new Mornington Peninsula clinic in Victoria.

Under the existing multi-year funding agreement², eligible Medibank customers admitted to Avive Mornington Peninsula will be able to access Empax's psychiatrist-led, psychotherapy-based trauma programs, reducing financial barriers for patients with complex mental health needs.

The agreement marks the expansion of Emyria's insurer-backed services into Victoria¹, adding to the Company's currently active sites in Western Australia and Queensland.

Tackling Australia's Mental Health Burden

Nearly half of all Australians are expected to experience a mental health condition in their lifetime³ with treatment-Resistant Depression (TRD) and Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) among the most severe. However, access to specialist, multidisciplinary care remains fragmented, costly, and subject to long wait times.

By integrating hospital-based programs with insurer-backed funding, Emyria and Medibank are directly addressing this gap, delivering coordinated, evidence-based treatment to patients who need it most.

Scaling Proven Care Models

Emyria recently reported positive 12-month durability data¹ demonstrating sustained improvements in patients completing its PTSD program. These data provide growing clinical evidence that the Company's treatment models deliver lasting outcomes for people living with complex and otherwise treatment resistant mental health challenges.

The private health insurance funded Empax model combines psychiatrist-led, psychotherapy-based care with robust longitudinal data collection, delivered within licensed hospital environments. Each treatment pathway generates real-world clinical evidence that enables Emyria to continuously optimise care protocols and demonstrate value to insurer and hospital partners.

Through collaborations with major private health insurers like Medibank, Emyria is reducing out-of-pocket costs for eligible patients while proving that effective mental health treatment can be delivered sustainably and at scale.

National Growth Outlook

With insurer-funded programs operating in Perth and Brisbane and now expanding to Mornington Peninsula, Emyria is accelerating the national rollout of its Empax Centres. The Company continues to assess opportunities with additional hospital partners and insurers across metropolitan and regional Australia.

As demand for measurable, outcomes-driven mental health care grows, Emyria's integrated model combining clinical delivery, insurer funding, and real-world data positions the Company as a scalable platform for national adoption.

Emyria Executive Chairman, Greg Hutchinson, commented:

"We're thrilled to extend our agreement with Medibank and bring our insurer funded Empax programs to Victoria. This represents an important step forward for patients, clinicians, and the broader health system.

Our goal has always been to make world-class, evidence-based mental health care accessible to every Australian who needs it. By integrating insurer funding into high-quality hospital programs, we're removing financial barriers that have historically limited access to comprehensive trauma and mood disorder treatments.

With funded programs now operating across three states, Emyria is demonstrating that our data-driven model of care can scale nationally. This expansion will enable more Australians to access effective treatment for complex mental health conditions while contributing valuable data to help modernise and strengthen Australia's healthcare system."
