Fly Wallet Approved as SWIFT User – Supervised Financial Institution Category

Klevo Rewards Limited (ASX: KLV) ("Klevo" or "Company") is pleased to announce that its wholly owned subsidiary, Fly Wallet Pty Ltd, has received approval to join the SWIFT network as a SWIFT user under the category of Supervised Financial Institution.

The SWIFT (Society for Worldwide Interbank Financial Telecommunication) network is a global financial messaging infrastructure used by banks and financial institutions worldwide to securely exchange payment instructions and financial information. Membership provides access to standardised financial messaging systems used across international banking and payments ecosystems.

Approval as a Supervised Financial Institution confirms that Fly Wallet has met the eligibility and regulatory supervision requirements necessary to participate directly within the SWIFT network.

This approval represents an important milestone in the development of Klevo's rewards and payments ecosystem. Integration with SWIFT enhances Fly Wallet's financial infrastructure and supports the continued expansion of KLV Pay and KLV Coins, the Company's digital wallet and rewards platform.

The capability is expected to strengthen Fly Wallet's ability to support enterprise partners, merchants, and members across Australia and the Asia-Pacific region by enabling enhanced connectivity to global financial institutions and payment networks.

Klevo continues to focus on building a next-generation rewards and payments platform that combines digital wallets, card-linked rewards, and enterprise loyalty infrastructure to make everyday transactions more rewarding for consumers and businesses.

Further updates will be provided to the market as Klevo continues to expand the functionality and reach of the KLV Pay and KLV Coins and Fly Wallet platforms.

This announcement was authorised for release by the Board of Directors of Klevo.
