- Adjusted EBITDA excluding special items increased to $595 million
- Finished the first quarter 2026 with a cash balance of $1.4 billion
- Continued disciplined capital allocation; issued notice to redeem in May 2026 the remaining $219 million of outstanding 6.125% Senior Notes due 2028
- Continued the San Ciprián, Spain smelter restart; achieved safe completion in April 2026

“Our experienced team performed very well managing the impacts from the Middle East conflict and Cyclone Narelle,” said Alcoa President and CEO William F. Oplinger. “We delivered a solid quarter excluding shipment timing impacts, which we expect to realize in the second quarter of 2026.”

First Quarter 2026 Results

- Production: Alumina production decreased 5 percent sequentially to 2.4 million metric tons primarily related to lower production at the Australian refineries due to the beginning of seasonal maintenance cycles. In the Aluminum segment, production was flat sequentially at 607,000 metric tons primarily due to continued progress on the San Ciprián smelter restart, partially offset by two fewer days in the period.
- Shipments: In the Alumina segment, third-party shipments of alumina decreased 31 percent sequentially primarily due to lower sales of externally sourced alumina to fulfill customer commitments, seasonally lower first quarter shipments, and shipment delays in Australia primarily related to the Middle East conflict and Cyclone Narelle. In Aluminum, total shipments decreased 8 percent sequentially primarily due to proactive inventory repositioning within North America and decreased trading, partially offset by increased shipments related to the San Ciprián smelter restart.
- Revenue: The Company's total third-party revenue of $3.2 billion decreased 7 percent sequentially. In the Alumina segment, third-party revenue decreased 33 percent on lower alumina shipments, lower volumes and price from bauxite offtake and supply agreements, and a decrease in average realized third-party price of alumina. In the Aluminum segment, third-party revenue increased 3 percent on an increase in average realized third-party price, partially offset by lower shipments and impacts from certain energy contracts linked to metal pricing.
- Net income attributable to Alcoa Corporation was $425 million, or $1.60 per share. Sequentially, the results reflect:
 - o Increased aluminum prices;
 - o Favorable mark-to-market change of $158 million on the Saudi Arabian Mining Company (Ma'aden) shares;
 - o Non-recurrence of a charge to impair goodwill of $144 million recorded in the fourth quarter 2025;
 - o Net favorable currency impacts, primarily due to gains recognized in Other income;Partially offset by:
 - o Net unfavorable tax impacts, primarily related to the non-recurrence of a valuation allowance reversal of $133 million on deferred tax assets of Alcoa World Alumina Brasil Ltda. in the fourth quarter 2025;
 - o Non-recurrence of carbon dioxide compensation of $57 million recognized in the fourth quarter 2025;
 - o Lower aluminum and alumina shipments; and,
 - o Lower volumes and price from bauxite offtake and supply agreements.
- Adjusted net income attributable to Alcoa Corporation was $373 million, or $1.40 per share, excluding the impact from net special items of $52 million. Notable special items include a mark-to-market gain on the Ma'aden shares of $88 million, partially offset by the corresponding tax impact.
- Adjusted EBITDA excluding special items was $595 million, a sequential increase of $68 million primarily due to higher aluminum prices, partially offset by the non-recurrence of carbon dioxide compensation recognized in the fourth quarter 2025, lower aluminum and alumina shipments, unfavorable currency impacts, and lower volumes and price from bauxite offtake and supply agreements.
- Cash: Alcoa ended the quarter with a cash balance of $1.4 billion. Cash used for operations was $179 million. Cash provided from financing activities was $60 million, primarily related to $100 million of net short-term borrowings primarily associated with inventory repositioning, partially offset by $27 million of cash dividends on stock. Cash used for investing activities was $129 million, primarily related to capital expenditures of $119 million.
- Working capital: For the first quarter, Receivables from customers of $1.2 billion, Inventories of $2.3 billion and Accounts payable, trade of $1.8 billion comprised DWC working capital. Alcoa reported 48 days working capital, a sequential increase of 13 days primarily due to an increase in inventory days primarily on additional volumes in the Alumina segment from delayed shipments and an increase in accounts receivable days primarily on higher pricing for aluminum.

Key Actions

- Notice of notes redemption: On April 14, 2026, the Company announced that its wholly-owned subsidiary, Alcoa Nederland Holding B.V., issued a notice to redeem the remaining $219 million aggregate principal amount of its outstanding 6.125% notes due in 2028. The notes will be redeemed on May 15, 2026 at a price equal to 100% of the principal amount, plus accrued and unpaid interest, using cash on hand.
- San Ciprián smelter restart: On April 8, 2026, Alcoa announced the safe completion of the San Ciprián smelter restart. Throughout the restart process, the workforce maintained high standards of safety and efficiency, demonstrating commitment to operational excellence.

The Company does not provide reconciliations of the forward-looking non-GAAP financial measures Adjusted EBITDA and Adjusted Net Income, including transformation, intersegment eliminations and other corporate Adjusted EBITDA; operational tax expense; and other expense; each excluding special items, to the most directly comparable forward-looking GAAP financial measures because it is impractical to forecast certain special items, such as restructuring charges and mark-to-market contracts, without unreasonable efforts due to the variability and complexity associated with predicting the occurrence and financial impact of such special items. For the same reasons, the Company is unable to address the probable significance of the unavailable information, which could be material to future results.

Alcoa expects 2026 total Alumina segment production and shipments to remain unchanged from its prior projection, ranging between 9.7 to 9.9 million metric tons, and between 11.8 and 12.0 million metric tons, respectively. The difference between production and shipments reflects trading volumes and externally sourced alumina to fulfill customer contracts.

Alcoa expects 2026 total Aluminum segment production and shipments to remain unchanged from its prior projection, ranging between 2.4 and 2.6 million metric tons, and between 2.6 and 2.8 million metric tons, respectively.

Within the second quarter 2026 Alumina Segment Adjusted EBITDA, the Company expects sequential unfavorable impacts of approximately $15 million due to lower price and volumes from bauxite offtake agreements and higher energy prices, primarily diesel, due to the Middle East conflict.

For the second quarter 2026 Aluminum Segment Adjusted EBITDA, Alcoa expects sequential favorable impacts of approximately $55 million due to inventory repositioning actions taken in the first quarter 2026, higher shipments and product premiums, and lower production costs due to the completion of the San Ciprián smelter restart, partially offset by seasonally lower third-party energy sales. Based on recent higher LME and Midwest premium pricing and expected higher shipments, Section 232 tariff costs on U.S. imports of aluminum from Canada are expected to increase by approximately $35 million sequentially. Alumina costs in the Aluminum segment are expected to be favorable by approximately $20 million sequentially.

Based on current alumina and aluminum market conditions, Alcoa expects second quarter 2026 operational tax expense to approximate $110 million to $120 million, which may vary with market conditions and jurisdictional profitability.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

This press release contains reference to certain financial measures that are not calculated and presented in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States (GAAP). Alcoa Corporation believes that the presentation of these non-GAAP financial measures is useful to investors because such measures provide both additional information about the operating performance of Alcoa Corporation and insight on the ability of Alcoa Corporation to meet its financial obligations by adjusting the most directly comparable GAAP financial measure for the impact of, among others, “special items” as defined by the Company, non-cash items in nature, and/or nonoperating expense or income items. The difference between segment totals and consolidated amounts is in Corporate.

- (1) Adjusted operating costs includes all production related costs for alumina or aluminum produced and shipped: raw materials consumed; conversion costs, such as labor, materials, and utilities; and plant administrative expenses.
- (2) Other segment items include costs associated with trading activity, the Alumina segment's purchase of bauxite from offtake or other supply agreements, the Alumina segment's commercial shipping services, and the Aluminum segment's energy assets; other direct and non-production related charges including tariff costs; Selling, general administrative, and other expenses; and Research and development expenses.

The Adjusted EBITDA presented may not be comparable to similarly titled measures of other companies.
- (4) Transformation includes, among other items, the Adjusted EBITDA of previously closed operations.
- (5) Corporate expenses are composed of general administrative and other expenses of operating the corporate headquarters and other global administrative facilities, as well as research and development expenses of the corporate technical center.
- (6) Other includes certain items that are not included in the Adjusted EBITDA of the reportable segments.

Net income attributable to Alcoa Corporation – as adjusted and Diluted EPS – as adjusted are non-GAAP financial measures. Management believes these measures are meaningful to investors because management reviews the operating results of Alcoa Corporation excluding the impacts of restructuring and other charges, various tax items, and other special items (collectively, “special items”). There can be no assurances that additional special items will not occur in future periods. To compensate for this limitation, management believes it is appropriate to consider Net income attributable to Alcoa Corporation and Diluted EPS determined under GAAP as well as Net income attributable to Alcoa Corporation – as adjusted and Diluted EPS – as adjusted.

Alcoa Corporation's definition of Adjusted EBITDA (Earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization) is net margin plus an add-back for depreciation, depletion, and amortization. Net margin is equivalent to Sales minus the following items: Cost of goods sold; Selling, general administrative, and other expenses; Research and development expenses; and Provision for depreciation, depletion, and amortization. Adjusted EBITDA is a non-GAAP financial measure. Management believes this measure is meaningful to investors because Adjusted EBITDA provides additional information with respect to Alcoa Corporation's operating performance and the Company's ability to meet its financial obligations. The Adjusted EBITDA presented may not be comparable to similarly titled measures of other companies.

- for the quarter ended March 31, 2026, the mark-to-market contracts associated with the Portland, Australia smelter generated losses ($8) in Other (income) expenses, net which economically increase the cost of power recorded in Cost of goods sold and the mark-to-market contracts associated with the San Ciprián refinery and smelter generated gains ($6) in Other (income) expenses, net which economically offset a portion of foreign currency impacts recorded in Cost of goods sold. These non-GAAP reclasses present the total cost of power and net foreign currency impacts within Cost of goods sold. Free Cash Flow

	Quarter ended
	March 31, 2026	December 31, 2025	March 31, 2025
Cash (used for) provided from operations	$ (179)	$ 537	$ 75
Capital expenditures	(119)	(243)	(93)
Free cash flow	$ (298)	$ 294	$ (18)

Free cash flow is a non-GAAP financial measure. Management believes this measure is meaningful to investors because management reviews cash flows generated from operations after taking into consideration capital expenditures, which are necessary to maintain and expand Alcoa Corporation's asset base and are expected to generate future cash flows from operations. It is important to note that Free cash flow does not represent the residual cash flow available for discretionary expenditures since other non-discretionary expenditures, such as mandatory debt service requirements, are not deducted from the measure.

Net Debt and Adjusted Net Debt

	March 31, 2026	December 31, 2025

Long-term debt due within one year	1	1

Plus: Net pension / OPEB liability	594	613
Adjusted net debt	$ 1,792	$ 1,464

Net debt is a non-GAAP financial measure. Management believes this measure is meaningful to investors because management assesses Alcoa Corporation's leverage position after considering available cash that could be used to repay outstanding debt.

Adjusted net debt is also a non-GAAP financial measure. Management believes this measure is meaningful to investors because management also assesses Alcoa Corporation's leverage position after considering available cash that could be used to repay outstanding debt and net pension/OPEB liability.
