

Key Highlights

Corporate Updates

- Certification of 48C Tax Credit Project: Announced that, on 8 April 2026, the U.S. Government (USG) certified NOVONIX's Riverside project in connection with the US$103 million tax credit previously allocated under the Section 48C Advanced Energy Project Credit Program. NOVONIX expects to receive the tax credit when the first 11,000 tonnes per annum (tpa) of production capacity is placed in service and confirmed as such to the USG by the Company, provided the capacity is placed in service and confirmed to the USG before 7 April 2028. The nature of these tax credits allows them to be sold to a third party.
- BTS Divestiture: Entered a binding term sheet to divest the Battery Technology Solutions business, with completion anticipated in Q2 2026. NOVONIX will retain a 15% equity interest in the cathode technology business, maintaining an investment in future commercialization of its proprietary technology.
- Riverside Expansion: Secured exclusive rights to evaluate the acquisition of ~17.5 acres of land adjacent to the Riverside facility, supporting potential future expansion and operating efficiencies.
- Annual General Meeting: Completed post-quarter, with all resolutions passed. Nick Liveris resigned from the Board of Directors.
- Trade Environment: U.S. International Trade Commission determined in a 2-1 split decision that Chinese imports of anode active materials do not materially impede the U.S. industry; existing tariffs of 35% remain in place. In March 2026, the U.S. Trade Representative commenced two Section 301 investigations, which are expected to result in the imposition of tariffs (perhaps including tariffs that benefit NOVONIX) in Q3 2026.

Operations Updates

- Panasonic Production Timing: Advised second half of 2027 as expected commencement of mass production for Panasonic Energy, reflecting revised qualification timelines.

Government Funding and Incentives

48C Advanced Manufacturing Tax Credit

On 8 April 2026, the U.S. Government certified NOVONIX's Riverside project in connection with the US$103 million tax credit previously allocated under the Section 48C Advanced Energy Project Credit Program. NOVONIX expects to receive tax credits when the first 11,000 tpa of production capacity is placed in service, provided this occurs before 7 April 2028. These tax credits can be sold to a third party. The certification reflects continued U.S. government confidence in NOVONIX and its role in establishing a domestic synthetic graphite supply chain and was accompanied by supportive commentary from U.S. Representative Chuck Fleischmann, "This certification from the Trump administration is the latest vote of confidence in a mission that has always been bigger than politics."

Divestiture of Battery Technology Solutions (BTS)

In February 2026, NOVONIX announced that it had entered into a binding term sheet for the proposed divestiture of its Battery Technology Solutions business.

The transaction represents a strategic exit from non-core operations and aligns the Company's focus on scaling its synthetic graphite production platform in North America.

NOVONIX will retain a 15% equity interest in the cathode technology business. The retained interest provides ongoing investment in the future commercialization of proprietary all-dry, precursor-free cathode synthesis technology.

The transaction remains subject to definitive agreements and customary closing conditions, with completion anticipated in Q2 2026.

Riverside Expansion

In March 2026, NOVONIX announced that it had secured exclusive rights to assess the potential acquisition of approximately 17.5 acres of land adjacent to its Riverside anode materials facility in Chattanooga, Tennessee. The agreement includes a due diligence period of at least 150 days and contemplates a purchase price of US$26.5 million, subject to rezoning to heavy industrial use and other customary conditions.

This adjacent land represents a strategic opportunity to support future expansion at Riverside and may enable consolidation of the Company's planned 50,000 tpa onto a single site.

The existing plan to reach 50,000 tpa contemplates development across two separate locations in Chattanooga, namely Novonix Riverside and Novonix Enterprise South. This assessment evaluates consolidating the 50,000 tpa build-out into one unified project, which could deliver significant capital savings of more than $200 million, along with several million dollars per year in operational synergies. There is no certainty that the transaction or consolidation will proceed.

Annual General Meeting (Post-Quarter Announcement)

NOVONIX confirmed that its Annual General Meeting (AGM) was completed post-quarter on 15 April 2026, with all resolutions passed.

Nick Liveris retired from the NOVONIX Board of Directors, effective at the conclusion of the AGM, to focus on his other commitments. He was previously the Company's Chief Financial Officer and transitioned to a non-executive Director in 2024. The Company thanks Nick for his significant contributions and wish him all the best in his future endeavors. The Board remains sharply focused on disciplined execution of the Company's strategy and on delivering long-term value to shareholders.

Trade Environment – ITC Determination

In March 2026, the U.S. International Trade Commission determined that imports of anode active materials from China do not materially impede the U.S. industry. As a result, previously proposed antidumping and countervailing duties will not be implemented. However, the 25% tariff under Section 301 of the Trade Act remains in place, and a Section 122 tariff of 10% will remain in place until the second half of July. Additional Section 301 investigations by the U.S. Trade Representative (“USTR”) on excess capacity and forced labor were commenced in March 2026, with results, and potentially new tariffs, expected this summer. NOVONIX has submitted comments to USTR and will testify at hearings in support of the Section 301 investigations.

The policy environment in the U.S. continues to reinforce the importance of developing a domestic supply chain for critical minerals and utilizing tariffs to support that goal. NOVONIX remains focused on advancing its North American production strategy.

Nasdaq Minimum Bid Price Requirement

In March 2026, NOVONIX received notice from Nasdaq that it is not in compliance with the minimum bid price requirement of US$1.00 per ADR for at least 30 consecutive trading days.

The Company has a 180-calendar day period to regain compliance, which requires maintaining a closing bid price of at least US$1.00 for a minimum of 10 consecutive trading days.

The notice has no immediate impact on the listing of the Company’s securities, and NOVONIX is evaluating available options to address the requirement, which could include a modification of the ratio of a NOVONIX ADR to the NOVONIX ordinary shares. The current ratio is one ADR to four ordinary shares.

Operations Update

Panasonic Qualification and Production Timing

In January 2026, NOVONIX provided an update on the expected timing for commencement of mass production for its lead battery material customer, Panasonic Energy.

Following the installation and commissioning of all required mass production equipment, the Company continues to progress through final qualification stages. Mass production of battery-grade anode material for Panasonic is now expected to begin in the second half of 2027.
