OUTLOOK

Sanjeev Gandhi
Managing Director & CEO

CONTINUED MOMENTUM AND INCREASED SHAREHOLDER VALUE

OUTLOOK¹

Full year underlying EBIT is expected to increase across all segments and all regions versus the prior period, subject to no new unforeseen factors impacting the business given the very volatile external environment

Orica is currently not experiencing any immediate material constraints related to the conflict in the Middle East and the company's products (inputs or components) are generally not transported through the Strait of Hormuz

We will continue to closely monitor any potential external impacts such as those related to future geopolitical and market volatility and any future movements in foreign exchange

Balance sheet strength remains a key focus, with leverage operating within the target range

Existing business capital expenditure is expected to be broadly in line with 2025

Net operating cash flow is expected to be lower than 2025 primarily due to movements in foreign exchange and the impact of significant items

Depreciation and amortisation is expected to be at the lower end of $520 million to $540 million

Net finance costs are expected to be slightly higher than 2025

Non-controlling interests are expected to be broadly in line with 2025

Effective tax rate is expected to be slightly below 2025 based on regional earnings mix

Looking beyond FY2026 we see positive momentum and growth for Orica, and the company's medium-term outlook remains unchanged
