MONADELPHOUS SECURES MAJOR CONSTRUCTION CONTRACT WITH CS ENERGY

Engineering company Monadelphous Group Limited (ASX: MND) ("Monadelphous" or "the Company") today announced the award of a major contract with CS Energy for works associated with the construction of the Brigalow Peaking Power Plant near Chinchilla, Queensland.

The contract, valued at approximately $380 million, includes the balance-of-plant construction and installation of 12 aeroderivative gas turbine generator units with a combined capacity of 400 megawatts, together with the engineering and design of minor packages. Work will commence in the second half of this year and is expected to be completed by early 2029.

Once operational, the gas peaking plant will be capable of delivering energy to more than 150,000 homes during peak electricity demand periods, reinforcing power system reliability and complementing renewable energy.

During construction, the Company forecasts a peak workforce of around 300 people. Monadelphous will support the local community through the facilitation of employment and supply opportunities.

Monadelphous Managing Director Zoran Bebic said the award highlights the Company's strengthening position in supporting Australia's energy transition.

"We are pleased to be partnering with CS Energy on the Brigalow Peaking Power Plant, supporting reliable and flexible energy supply. Monadelphous has a proven track record in delivering large-scale energy construction projects and is proud to continue contributing to critical energy infrastructure across Australia."
