Proceedings in Oman Related to Al Wash-hi Majaza Project Dismissed

Alara Resources Limited (ASX: AUQ) (Alara or the Company) is pleased to advise that the Primary Court of Ibra, Sultanate of Oman, has issued its judgment in the Administrative Case, dismissing all substantive claims brought against Al Hadeetha Resources LLC (AHRL) and several Omani government authorities. Alara Resources Limited (ASX:AUQ) holds a 51% interest in AHRL.

KEY HIGHLIGHTS

- Oman court dismisses all substantive claims against AHRL on their merits
- Court upholds the lawful issue of all relevant permits, approvals and mining licence
- No environmental impacts, damage or causal connection established by plaintiffs
- Compensation claim dismissed in full and plaintiffs ordered to pay proceedings costs
- AHRL's mining and processing operations continue unaffected

Background

Previous announcement¹ was made, relating to legal proceedings commenced by a group of local residents challenging various permits, approvals and licences associated with AHRL's mining and processing operations in the Al-Kharis area of Wilayat Al-Mudhaibi.

Judgment

After considering the evidence and submissions of all parties, the Court dismissed all substantive claims on their merits and ordered the plaintiffs to pay the costs of the proceedings.

In its judgment, the Court found that:

- Relevant administrative approvals, permits and mining licence were lawfully issued;
- Plaintiffs had not established any environmental impacts arising from the project on the evidence before the Court;
- No proven actual and direct damage resulting from the challenged administrative decisions; and
- No conclusive technical evidence establishing a causal connection between AHRL's activities and the damages alleged by the plaintiffs.
- The decision is consistent with the principles of the Sultanate of Oman's Basic Law, which guarantees freedom of economic activity, affirms that natural resources belong to the State and must be properly utilised, and commits the State to encouraging investment and providing the necessary conditions to support it — all in accordance with the law.

The Court also noted evidence from the relevant authorities confirming that the project had obtained all required approvals and that environmental monitoring and relevant compliance practices were being undertaken.

Outlook

Alara and AHRL welcome the Court's decision and remain committed to operating in accordance with all applicable licences, environmental requirements and regulatory obligations in the Sultanate of Oman.

AHRL is reviewing the judgment with its legal advisers and will monitor should any appeal be lodged within the applicable appeal period. Alara will provide further update, should any material developments arise.
