Governance at Telstra

2026 Corporate Governance Statement

We are committed to excellence in corporate governance, transparency and accountability.

This is essential for the long-term performance and sustainability of our company, and to protect and enhance the interests of our shareholders and other stakeholders.

Our governance arrangements and practices play an integral role in supporting our business and helping us deliver on our strategy.

They provide the structure through which our strategy and business objectives are set, our performance is monitored, and the risks we face are managed.

They include a clear framework for decision making and accountability across our business and provide guidance on the standards of behaviour we expect of each other.

We review our governance practices considering current and emerging corporate governance developments of relevance to our company, and to reflect market practice, expectations and regulatory changes as appropriate.

This report summarises Telstra's governance arrangements and practices during FY26. It has been approved by the Board of Telstra Group Limited and is current as at 13 August 2026 (unless otherwise stated).

We comply with the fourth edition of the ASX Corporate Governance Council's Corporate Governance Principles and Recommendations (ASX Recommendations), which is reflected in this statement, as well as our Appendix 4G (which summarises our compliance with the ASX Recommendations).

More information about governance at Telstra (including this statement and Appendix 4G, our Board and standing Board Committee Charters and key governance policies) can be found on our governance website at telstra.com/governance.

Our governance framework includes:

- open, clear and timely communications with our shareholders;
- a skilled, experienced, diverse and independent Board, with a Board Committee structure suited to our needs;
- clear delegation, decision making and accountability frameworks;
- robust systems of risk management and assurance; and
- our behaviours and habits, Telstra Group Code of Conduct, and policy framework which explains what we stand for as an organisation and how we will conduct ourselves as we work together to deliver our strategy.

Roles and responsibilities

The Board

The Board is responsible for governing the management of Telstra's business and is accountable to shareholders in performing that role. The Board has a Charter that sets out in detail its responsibilities, as well as other matters relating to its composition, conduct and the arrangements by which it operates.

The Board's responsibilities include approving Telstra's strategy, approving and monitoring the implementation of the corporate plan, selecting and appointing the CEO, setting Telstra's risk appetite and overseeing the management, performance and governance of Telstra.

The Board has delegated responsibility for the day-to-day management of Telstra to the CEO in accordance with the strategy, corporate plan and policies approved by the Board, except for those matters specifically reserved to the Board or its Committees. Reserved matters include significant expenditure, acquisition, and divestment transactions above the limits delegated to the CEO, material variations to our strategy and the annual corporate plan, and capital management initiatives including the payment of dividends, share issues and buy-backs, and returns of capital.

The CEO in turn has delegated some of these powers to senior management and others throughout the organisation under our delegations framework.

The CEO is accountable to the Board for the exercise of the delegated authority and is responsible for, among other things, developing and implementing our strategy, managing the organisation in accordance with our strategy and corporate plan, and instilling and reinforcing Telstra's behaviours and habits and Code of Conduct. With the support of senior management, the CEO provides the Board with reports, briefings and presentations on a regular basis throughout the year, and Directors challenge management and hold them to account.

Our Chair

Our Chair must be an independent Director appointed by the Board and the role of Chair and CEO cannot be fulfilled by the same person. Our current Chair, Craig Dunn, is an independent non-executive Director. He has been a Director of Telstra since 12 April 2016 and appointed Chair effective from 17 October 2023.

The Chair's overarching responsibilities are to provide appropriate leadership to the Board and Telstra and to ensure the Board fulfils its obligations under its Charter.

Our Company Secretary

Our Group Company Secretary, Craig Emery, is appointed by the Board and reports directly to the Board through the Chair. All Directors have access to the Group Company Secretary. The Group Company Secretary's role includes advising the Board and its Committees on governance matters, monitoring that Board and Committee policies and procedures are followed, coordinating all Board business and providing a point of reference for dealings between the Board and management.

Our Board and Board Committee Charters, which provide further information about the roles and responsibilities of the Board, Board Committees, the CEO and management, are available on our governance website at telstra.com/governance. Information about our CEO and our leadership team can be found in our 2026 Annual Report and at telstra.com.au/aboutus/our-company/present/leadership-team.

Board structure and composition

The Board actively seeks to ensure it has an appropriate mix of diversity, skills, experience and expertise to enable it to discharge its responsibilities effectively and to be well equipped to help our company navigate the range of opportunities and challenges we face.

Non-executive Director Tenure

Age of non-executive Directors

Board gender diversity – non-executive Directors

Non-executive Director geographical diversity

Matters relating to Board (and Board Committee) structure and composition are considered by the Board and Nomination Committee in accordance with the framework set out in the Board and Nomination Committee Charters and through processes implemented by the Board.

Skills, experience and diversity

The Board utilises a skills matrix to assist it in maintaining an appropriate and diverse mix in its membership and identifying areas of focus. The matrix sets out the skills the Board currently has and is looking to achieve in its collective membership.

During the year, the Board reviewed the skills categories outlined below and confirmed they remain appropriate. To ensure alignment with our Connected Future 30 strategy, the 'Technology and digital' skill category was broadened to include reference to 'digital disruption, innovation and emerging technologies'. A self-assessment and calibration process against these skills categories was undertaken this year.

The assessment assists the Board in its future renewal planning, and the Board will continue to review and refine its approach to the Board skills matrix.

The table below highlights the skills categories assessed, and the extent to which they are currently represented on the Board.

Board skills matrix

1. In addition, it is a requirement of the Telstra Corporation Act 1991 (Cth) that at least 2 directors have knowledge of, or experience in, the communication needs of regional, rural or remote areas.

Level of working experience and knowledge

-  High competency, knowledge and experience
-  Extensive experience and knowledge
-  General working experience and knowledge

The Board considers that each of the categories of skills set out in the matrix is currently well represented on the Board, recognising that the preferred skill mix is dynamic, and will evolve and continue to change over time. In addition, the Board benefits from the combination of Directors' individual skills and experience in particular areas, as well as the varying perspectives and insights that arise from the interaction of Directors with diverse backgrounds. The Board also continues to seek ways to augment the skills and experience represented on the Board to best equip the Board to fulfil its role effectively.

In respect of diversity, the Board considers diversity through a number of lenses – both gender and beyond – to provide fresh thinking and different perspectives on the Board (whether through age, experience or otherwise). In appointing new Directors, the Board is very conscious of putting in place the right balance of skills, knowledge, experience and diversity on the Board to enable it to discharge its responsibilities effectively and add value.

For FY26, the Board's diversity objective was to maintain (at least) 40 per cent representation of women, 40 per cent representation of men and 20 per cent representation of any gender among non-executive Directors.

As at 30 June 2026, four of our non-executive Directors were women, equating to 50 per cent representation of women among non-executive Directors. In total there are five Directors who are women on the Board (including our CEO, Vicki Brady), equating to 55.6 per cent representation of women on the overall Board.

For FY27, the Board remains committed to maintaining (at least) 40 per cent representation of women, 40 per cent representation of men and 20 per cent representation of any gender among non-executive Directors.

The Board has several initiatives in place to meet its strategic imperative of ensuring the company has a diverse Board including that a diverse range of qualified candidates is considered for appointment and developing a pipeline of potential Board candidates. A number of Directors also participate in formal and informal programs and arrangements to assist in the development of a broader pool of skilled and experienced Board candidates, such as mentoring for executives and non-executive directors (of any gender) across public, private and not-for-profit sectors.

In addition, the Director's Leave of Absence Policy provides for parental leave as a further initiative to support Board diversity.

Tenure, election and re-election

Each non-executive Director's term of appointment is subject to the provisions of the Corporations Act, the ASX Listing Rules and our Constitution.

The Board does not set fixed tenure limits for non-executive Directors and tenure remains a matter for the Board's discretion. In recognition of the importance of Board renewal and succession planning, the Board has adopted a policy which outlines certain principles with respect to Board and Committee tenure. These were reviewed and updated by the Board during the year and include the following principles:

Director Positions	Where a non-executive Director is approaching re-election, a review of their continuing directorship should take place, taking into account broader Board renewal and Board composition considerations and the requirements of the Telstra Corporation Act.
Board Committee Membership	Committee membership is to be reviewed at least every three years. It is the Board's intention that periodic rotation of Committee members' appointments should occur from time to time, subject to considerations of Committee succession planning and the overall composition/skills/experience of the Committee.

The Board also considers the length of service of each non-executive Director as part of its assessment of Director independence.

Our selection, nomination and appointment of non-executive Directors involves a process undertaken by the Nomination Committee and the Board, and we generally engage an executive search firm to assist in the process. As part of the process, the Board establishes criteria about the general qualifications and experience, as well as the specific qualifications, skills and expertise, that a candidate should possess. Before the Board appoints a Director, or puts forward a candidate for election as a Director, we undertake appropriate background checks, including director disqualification, bankruptcy, criminal history and education.

We provide formal letters of appointment to all new non-executive Directors (as well as senior management) in their personal capacity setting out the terms and conditions of their appointment. Director letters of appointment include a requirement for Directors to inform the Chair if they accept any new non-executive director or executive appointments. Directors are required to consult with the Chair before accepting any additional commitments which might conflict with, or impact on the time they are able to devote to, their role as a Telstra non-executive Director. Appropriate commitment of time to the affairs of Telstra is also one of the issues addressed in Directors' performance reviews.

Non-executive Directors appointed by the Board during the year must stand for election at the next AGM, and non-executive Directors may not hold office for more than three years (or beyond the third AGM following their appointment or last election, whichever is the later) without re-election.

A recommendation to re-elect a non-executive Director at the end of their term is not automatic. Before each AGM, the Board determines if it will recommend that shareholders vote in favour of the re-election of the non-executive Directors standing for re-election. This decision is made by the Board, having regard to the needs of the company, the outcome of the annual Board performance review (see below) and any other matters it considers relevant.

As the tenure of the CEO as a Director is linked to their executive office, the CEO is not required to stand for election.

We provide shareholders with all material information in our possession that is relevant to a decision on whether to elect or re-elect a Director in our AGM Notice of Meeting.

Our Board and Nomination Committee Charters, and Constitution, are available on our governance website at telstra.com/governance. Information about our Directors, including their qualifications, experience and length of service, can be found in the Board of Directors section of our 2026 Annual Report and at telstra.com.au/aboutus/our-company/present/the-board.

Director independence

The Board recognises the important contribution that independent Directors make to good corporate governance. All Directors, whether independent or not, are required to act in the best interests of Telstra and to exercise unfettered and independent judgement.

The Board intends that the CEO is the only executive Director and that all non-executive Directors are also independent Directors.

The Board assesses, at least annually, the independence of each non-executive Director. We consider that an independent Director is a non-executive Director who is free of any interest, position or relationship that might influence, or could reasonably be perceived to influence, in a material respect, their capacity to bring an independent judgement to bear on issues before the Board and to act in the best interests of Telstra, rather than in the interests of an individual security holder or other party.

When assessing the independent status of a Director, the Board considers the relationships potentially affecting the independent status of a director as described in Box 2.3 of the ASX Recommendations. Materiality is assessed on a case-by-case basis from the perspective of both Telstra and the relevant Director, and consideration is given to both qualitative and quantitative factors.

Other than the CEO, all our Directors are non-executive Directors and have been determined by the Board to be independent. As part of its independence assessment, the Board considered the length of service of each non-executive Director on the Board and concluded that no Director had been a Director of Telstra for such a period that their independence may have been compromised.

Performance assessments

Board, Committee and Director

The performance of the Board, its standing Committees and individual Directors (including the performance of the Chair as Chair of the Board) is reviewed annually. This review may be performed internally, or from time to time, with the assistance of an external third party. The Chair reviews the performance of each non-executive Director. Unless otherwise determined by the Chair, for non-executive Directors likely to stand for re-election, the Chair's review of their performance will be assisted by an external third-party reviewer. The Chair's performance is reviewed by the Chair of the People and Remuneration Committee (with the assistance of an external third-party reviewer when the Chair is proposing to stand for re-election).

The FY26 performance review comprised:

- an externally facilitated review of the standards upheld by the Board including their alignment to the Telstra behaviours and habits;
- performance of the Board Committees, including externally facilitated feedback on the performance of the Committees and effectiveness of the Committee structure, and meetings between the Chair of the Board and each Committee Chair; and
- an externally facilitated review of the performance of Directors standing for re-election.

In addition, the Board undertook an assessment of key matters considered by the Board consistent with its responsibilities under its Charter, and similar assessments were undertaken by each standing Board Committee and provided to the Board.

The Board also considered the performance of the Directors standing for re-election at the 2026 AGM, including feedback from the externally facilitated review, when determining the Board's recommendation to shareholders regarding the re-election of those Directors.

CEO and senior management

The Board reviews the CEO's performance annually against agreed measures and other relevant factors. The CEO undertakes a similar exercise in relation to senior management, and the Board approves the performance outcomes for senior management. Reviews of the performance of the CEO and senior management were undertaken at the end of FY26.

Information about our remuneration framework and policies, and details of the remuneration for FY26 for non-executive Directors, the CEO and senior management who were Key Management Personnel, can be found in our 2026 Remuneration Report (which forms part of the Directors' Report in our 2026 Annual Report at telstra.com/annualreport).

Director induction and continuing education

All new Directors participate in an induction process coordinated by the Group Company Secretary, which assists in providing a smooth transition for new Board members. The induction process for our non-executive Directors includes briefings from senior executives on our structure, our strategy, business operations and the sectors and environments in which we operate, our material risks and our people, as well as site visits. In addition, Directors have access to our bespoke Telstra Board AI Agent to augment the induction process and assist in understanding previous Board materials.

We also have in place a continuing education program for Directors, and we provide other appropriate professional development opportunities for Directors to develop and maintain the skills and knowledge needed to perform their role effectively. As part of this program Directors, individually and collectively, continue to develop and consolidate their understanding of the communication needs of regional, rural and remote areas of Australia, as well as develop their skills and knowledge on particular topics of relevance to Telstra.

During FY26, our program incorporated:

- A Board trip to the US to meet with a set of peers, partners and industry thought leaders with a focus on three main goals:
 - Connecting with peers and partners on the evolving telecommunications landscape;
 - Understanding digital infrastructure investment trends and perspectives, including satellite infrastructure; and
 - Learning about the evolving application of AI, especially agentic AI.
- A Board trip to Bendigo, in regional Victoria, to meet with customers, community partners and stakeholders with a focus on strengthening understanding of regional customer needs and opportunities for Telstra to support regional Australia.
- Education sessions (including updates from global peers) on:
 - Network engineering and technology, including satellite technology
 - Cyber security
 - AI
 - Customer trends and needs
 - Geopolitics.
- Attendance by select Directors at relevant industry conferences (Mobile World Congress and the Telstra Enterprise “Together26” conference).
- Participation by select Directors in Telstra store visits, field technician “ride ons”, regional Australia trips and a site visit to the construction of the Aura Network.

Access to management and independent advice

Directors have complete access to our senior management team through the Chair, CEO or Group Company Secretary at any time. In addition to regular presentations by senior management at Board meetings, Directors may seek briefings from senior management on specific matters.

The Board has the authority to conduct or direct any investigation required to fulfill its responsibilities and can retain, at Telstra’s expense, such legal, accounting or other advisers, consultants or experts as it considers necessary from time to time in the performance of its duties. All Board Committees also have access to independent professional advice on this basis.

In certain circumstances, each Director has the right to seek independent professional advice at Telstra’s expense within specified limits.

Conflicts of interests

In accordance with the requirements of the Corporations Act and our Constitution, Directors must declare any conflict of interest they may have and must follow the procedures set out in our Directors’ Interests Policy including, in certain circumstances, abstaining from participating in any discussion or voting on matters in which they have a material personal interest.

2. Our Board Committees

The Board has four standing Committees. Together they play a significant role by focusing in more detail on specific areas of our operations and governance frameworks, which assists in strengthening the Board's oversight of Telstra.

The following four standing Committees assist the Board in carrying out its responsibilities:

Each Committee operates in accordance with a Charter approved by the Board, and the Committee's Charter is reviewed each year. Committee membership is reviewed at least every three years. The Committees report, and make recommendations, to the Board as appropriate, and information and papers considered by a Committee are provided to other Committees and the Board as relevant.

From time to time the Board also establishes ad hoc Committees to support the Board in carrying out its responsibilities.

3. Engaging with our shareholders and investors

We value and facilitate a direct, two-way dialogue with our shareholders and investors. It is important we provide relevant information to shareholders, listen to and understand their perspectives and respond to their feedback.

Our Annual General Meeting

Our AGM plays an important role in providing our shareholders with an opportunity to hear directly from the Chair and CEO about our business, governance, financial performance, and prospects. It also provides an opportunity for shareholders to ask questions of the Board, management and the auditor on the management and performance of our company.

Our 2025 AGM was a physical meeting held at the Melbourne Convention and Exhibition Centre on 14 October 2025. Shareholders unable to attend in person could view a live webcast of the meeting and submit questions online, using the platform provided by our share registry, MUFG Corporate Markets (AU) Limited. Our AGM website (telstra.com/agm) provided shareholders with all the information needed to vote, attend, and ask a question at the meeting.

Our websites

We provide ready access to information about Telstra on our websites, including through our:

- Investor Centre (telstra.com/investor) – which includes information on our financial results, annual reports (which include our mandatory Climate Statements), our ASX announcements and investor presentations.
- Governance at Telstra website (telstra.com/governance) – which provides access to key governance documents such as our Board and Committee Charters, our Code of Conduct and other governance policies, as well as other governance related Telstra reports.
- Sustainability website (telstra.com/sustainability/report) – which includes information on our sustainability approach and performance, as well as access to our In Focus papers, data packs and additional documents.

Other shareholder and investor engagement and communications

We also have a range of initiatives in place to facilitate shareholder participation and engagement at our AGM, and to promote effective communication with shareholders and investors more generally. During FY26 this included:

The AGM	Other shareholder and investor engagement initiatives
• Encouraging shareholders to provide us with their questions ahead of the AGM. This helps us further understand shareholder issues and concerns and enables us to address areas of shareholder feedback at the meeting. • Recording the AGM and making it available for shareholders to view after the meeting. After the AGM we also made available online the questions asked by shareholders during the meeting which were relevant to the items of business. • Our standard practice, consistent with the Corporations Act, is for all resolutions to be decided by a poll rather than by a show of hands, in the interests of representing the views of as many shareholders as possible.	• Recording events such as our half year and full year financial results briefings and other investor presentations and making those presentations available on our Investor Centre. • CEO Vicki Brady recorded a summary of our FY25 full year and FY26 half year results and these were made available on our Investor Centre. Links to the videos were also provided to shareholders with their dividend emails. • CFO Michael Ackland presented to retail shareholders at the ASX CEO Connect virtual conference in September 2025. This was a free-to-register event and a recording was made available on the ASX website at www.asx.com.au.	• Organising institutional investor roadshows following our half year and full year financial results briefings, including briefings with brokers and financial advisors. • Participating in conferences in Australia and overseas to formally meet with institutional investors to discuss Telstra's strategy and performance. • Having scheduled ad hoc interactions with institutional investors, retail brokers, sell side analysts and proxy advisers. • Communicating directly with retail shareholders via our Investor Centre (investor.relations@team.telstra.com). • Continuing to encourage shareholders to provide us with their email addresses so we can communicate with them electronically.

Our Continuous Disclosure Policy sets out how we engage with our security holders, analysts, other members of the investment community and the media.

Our Continuous Disclosure policy can be found on our governance website at telstra.com/governance. Information about our Annual General Meetings can also be found at telstra.com/agm.

Managing our risks

Understanding and managing our risks is part of how we work. It helps us meet our strategic objectives as well as our legal and regulatory obligations, enables us to make informed business decisions, and act ethically in the best interests of Telstra and our shareholders.

Our Risk Management Policy outlines our approach, objectives and principles for risk management at Telstra, including our commitment to ensuring a consistent approach to managing our risks via our risk management framework.

Our risk management framework

Our risk management framework guides the organisation on how risks are managed across Telstra. The framework aligns with ISO 31000:2018, the International Standard for risk management. The risk appetite statements are set by the Board and guide risk management across the Telstra Group. Our risk management framework aligns with our corporate strategy and determines the extent of risks Telstra should take in pursuit of its strategic objectives.

Risk governance at Telstra is overseen by the Board and its Committees, and is supported by our ‘three lines of defence’ accountability model, which comprises:

First Line	Business stakeholders and operational management who are responsible for identifying, assessing and managing their risks.
Second Line	The Chief Risk Office which works together with risk management teams in each business area, and other second line oversight functions (e.g. Health, Safety, Wellbeing and Environment, Cyber Security, Supplier Governance and Group Compliance), which are responsible for our risk and compliance frameworks, oversight and monitoring.
Third Line	Our Group Internal Audit function, which is responsible for providing independent assurance on governance, risk management and internal control processes.

The risk culture at Telstra is shaped through our people, our leaders, and our behaviours and habits. Our data and technology provide the intelligence that further strengthens our risk culture.

A core component of our framework is the risk management process, which provides a set of coordinated activities to identify, assess, and take actions to manage the many risks that can affect success. This process is aligned with the risk appetite statements and indicators for our key risks. The risk management process ensures consideration of all types of risks from internal and external sources, including strategic, operational, financial, and regulatory, as well as technology, conduct, economic, geopolitical, environmental, and social sustainability risks.

Our Risk and Sustainability Committee

The Risk and Sustainability Committee oversees Telstra's risk management framework, including its implementation and effectiveness. This includes:

- reviewing Telstra's risk management framework at least annually to satisfy itself that it continues to be sound and effective, and that Telstra is operating with due regard to the risk appetite set by the Board; and
- reviewing reports from management on risk culture and any conduct that is materially inconsistent with the Telstra behaviours and habits or Code of Conduct (including material breaches and the action taken, or proposed to be taken, in response to those breaches) which are of relevance to the Risk and Sustainability Committee's responsibilities.

The Risk and Sustainability Committee reviewed Telstra's risk management framework in FY26 and is satisfied that it continues to be sound and effective, and that Telstra is operating with due regard to the risk appetite set by the Board.

Management forums

Our CEO Leadership Team acts as the peak management governance forum for risk management across Telstra. We have a series of risk governance forums with the CEO Leadership Team to ensure that our teams implement an effective risk management and internal control framework to identify, manage and monitor our risks, and for the review and consideration of risk management responsibilities.

The forums provide senior management with more detailed and timely information in relation to our key risks and controls, including current and emerging risks, compliance, privacy, fraud, customer experience, responsible business, business continuity, network resilience, cyber and data security, AI, supplier governance, health, safety and wellbeing, climate and nature, and internal audit activities.

Our risks

We maintain ongoing processes for identifying emerging and escalating sources of risk to our business. This includes undertaking risk assessments on products and services from design through to market launch, industry and market trend analysis, risk workshops with our partners, and regular risk forums with senior management which include scenario planning exercises to test our resilience and preparedness.

The Board reviews and approves Telstra's risk appetite statement at least annually, and the Risk & Sustainability Committee oversees the operation of our risk management framework to ensure it has appropriate regard for the risk appetite set by the Board.

We consider ESG factors as part of our consideration of our risks. Each year we apply a double materiality approach where we consider the inward-facing sustainability related financial factors that may influence the long-term sustainability of our business and outward-facing sustainability impact factors of greatest significance to our stakeholders, society and the environment. For more information about sustainability related financial risks to our business, please see our 2026 Annual Report.

Maintaining clear oversight of our climate and nature-related risks and opportunities is one of our sustainability governance priorities. Our mandatory Sustainability Report – Climate Statements are included in our Annual Report and are prepared in accordance with the Australian Accounting Standards Board (AASB) S2 Climate-related Disclosures standard. Our nature-related disclosures, guided by the recommendations of the Taskforce on Nature-related Financial Disclosures (TNFD), can be found in Our Approach to Nature Action.

FY26 activities and initiatives

We undertake various activities to monitor and review our risk management framework to ensure that it is operating as intended. We conduct reviews and self-assessments of our framework annually across the enterprise and report the results to our senior management risk forum and the Risk and Sustainability Committee. We use the results of those reviews, as well as recommendations from Group Internal Audit, to identify and implement opportunities that improve our framework.

In FY26, we further strengthened our risk management framework by sharpening our focus on the risks most critical to Telstra's strategy and performance. We continued to mature oversight of Critical and Material Risks, strengthened accountability across the business, and leveraged insights from our Governance, Risk and Compliance platform (RiCom) to enable more effective risk reporting and decision-making. We also strengthened compliance capability by evaluating priority obligation areas against defined maturity targets and enhanced controls and assurance mechanisms to support the ongoing embedding of effective compliance practices.

Our Risk and Sustainability Committee Charter is available on our governance website at telstra.com/governance.

A summary of the material risks that could affect Telstra (including any material exposure to economic as well as ESG risks), and how we seek to manage them is provided in the Our material risks section of our 2026 Annual Report at telstra.com/annualreport.

More information about climate, nature and other sustainability risks, our approach to managing them, and our performance is available in the Our material risks and the Sustainability Report – Climate Statements for FY26 sections of our 2026 Annual Report, as well as in our 2026 Bigger Picture Report and Our Approach to Nature Action at telstra.com/sustainability/report.

Internal audit

Our internal audit activities are undertaken by Group Internal Audit, Telstra's internal audit function. The role of Group Internal Audit is to provide the Board and management with independent and objective assurance on the effectiveness of our governance, risk management and internal control processes. To maintain the necessary independence it needs to carry out its role, Group Internal Audit has no direct operational responsibility or authority over any of our business or risk management activities.

Functional responsibility for Group Internal Audit resides with the Group Internal Audit Executive, whose appointment is recommended by the Risk and Sustainability Committee and approved by the Board. The Group Internal Audit Executive reports functionally to the Risk and Sustainability Committee and administratively to the CFO. Group Internal Audit has full and unrestricted access to all our information systems, records, physical properties and employees to carry out its activities. Group Internal Audit operates in conformance with the International Professional Practices Framework provided by the Institute of Internal Auditors. The Risk and Sustainability Committee monitors Group Internal Audit's activities and performance, including its independence.

Our external auditor

Telstra's external auditor is Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu (Deloitte). The Deloitte lead auditor will attend our 2026 AGM and be available to answer shareholder questions about the conduct of our audit and the preparation and content of the 2026 auditor's report.

The Audit Committee oversees our relationship with Deloitte, which includes reviewing and assessing Deloitte's performance and independence, and monitoring management's adherence to our policy on audit and non-audit services provided by Deloitte. During FY26, the Audit Committee was provided with regular reports outlining the nature and amount of any non-audit services rendered by Deloitte and an explanation of how the provision of those non-audit services was compatible with auditor independence.

Details of amounts paid or payable to Deloitte for non-audit services provided during the year are disclosed in Note 7.1 to our Financial Statements in our 2026 Financial Report (included in our 2026 Annual Report at telstra.com/annualreport).

Declarations regarding financial statements

In connection with our financial statements for the financial year ended 30 June 2026, and the half-year ended 31 December 2025, our CEO and CFO have provided the Board with declarations that:

- in their opinion, the financial records of Telstra have been properly maintained, the financial statements and notes thereto comply with the appropriate accounting standards and give a true and fair view of the financial position and performance of Telstra, and
- their opinion has been formed on the basis of a sound system of risk management and internal control which is operating effectively.

Our CEO and CFO have also provided the Board with a declaration that in their opinion, our consolidated entity disclosure statement required by section 295(3A) of the Corporations Act for the financial year ended 30 June 2026 is true and correct.

Processes for verifying periodic corporate reports

Our annual Financial Report and the Remuneration Report included in the annual Directors' Report are audited by our external auditor. Our half yearly Financial Report is reviewed by our external auditor.

For other periodic corporate reports prepared for the benefit of investors which are not required to be audited or reviewed by our external auditor, we have policies and processes in place to verify the integrity of the information contained in them before they are released to the market.

Our processes include review and approval by internal stakeholders (including the Functional Business Unit Executive, Investor Relations, Communications and Legal) to ensure material adheres to our External Release of Information policy. This includes ensuring that:

- the material submitted is factually accurate and fairly represents Telstra's position,
- if the report contains commercial or financial information or is commercially strategic in nature and may be considered to be market sensitive, any aspects of the report which are significant to the market are consistent with other public domain information and Telstra's financial accounts disclosures, and
- the report complies with any applicable laws and regulations.

In accordance with the Australian Sustainability Reporting Standards (ASRS) and the Australian Standard on Sustainability Assurance (ASSA 5010), selected disclosures within our Sustainability Report – Climate Statements are subject to limited assurance, including disclosures relating to governance, climate-related risks and opportunities, and Scope 1 and Scope 2 greenhouse gas emissions. Further, we seek external assurance over additional selected environmental performance metrics in our Bigger Picture Report, as well as metrics that form part of our regulatory disclosures under the National Greenhouse and Energy Reporting Act and selected metrics that form part of our regulatory disclosures under applicable modern slavery reporting legislation.

5. Acting lawfully, ethically and responsibly

Across Telstra, how we do business and support our customers is just as important as the business outcomes we deliver.

Our purpose and behaviours and habits

We believe it is people who give purpose to our technology. We're committed to staying close to our customers and providing them the best experience. And delivering the best tech. On the best network. Our purpose is to build a connected future so everyone can thrive. A purpose on its own is not enough. We have a set of behaviours and habits we practice each day to express what we stand for and guide the way we do things. Our behaviours and habits are core to our business, and we align everything we do with them to ensure we live what we stand for, in service of our customers.

Our behaviours and habits

Sustainability

Our purpose is to build a connected future so everyone can thrive. This underpins our belief that Telstra has a real opportunity to play a leadership role in creating a more sustainable and inclusive world. Increasingly, high-speed networks, IoT, data and artificial intelligence – all working together – are being seen as key contributors to address many of the challenges facing the world today. Telstra is at the heart of this, providing the foundational connectivity and innovative solutions that enable us and our customers to actively contribute to addressing local and global challenges. We are harnessing technology to create a better digital world and minimise our impact on the planet, as well as helping our customers and Australia do the same.

More information about our sustainability ambition and performance can be found in our 2026 Bigger Picture Report at telstra.com/sustainability/report.

Leadership, ethics and governance

Across our operations, we promote a fair and responsible culture through the Telstra Group Code of Conduct ('Code'), Group Policies, mandatory compliance training and by recognising employees who demonstrate our behaviours and habits. Our behaviours and habits, Code and supporting Group Policies and Standards guide our people and partners to uphold our expectation to act fairly, ethically and in accordance with the law.

The Code translates our behaviours and habits into standards that reflect good corporate governance and responsible business practice. The Code defines the principles and standards of behaviour and decision making that we expect from all Directors, employees and contractors across the Group. Everyone across the Group is responsible for understanding and complying with our governing principles and Group Policy or Standards, along with reporting any concerns or incidents that conflict with our Code. Our Group Executives and leaders are accountable for creating and promoting a culture in which acting responsibly is core to all our daily decision making to deliver compliant and sustainable outcomes.

Responsibilities under the Code and our Group Policies are covered in Business Essentials training which is mandatory for all new starters; mandatory refresher training also applies for our people on an annual basis.

Whistleblowing

Our Code further fosters a culture where our people are encouraged to speak up and raise concerns with confidence.

We seek to ensure our people know how to raise a concern through a range of channels, including under Telstra's Whistleblowing Policy. The Whistleblowing Policy and the relevant legislation establish protections for a range of people – including current and former employees, their relatives and dependants and suppliers – to report concerns about illegal, unethical or improper conduct or an improper state of affairs or circumstances at Telstra.

Our Whistleblowing Policy is supported by a confidential process that provides appropriate protections for eligible persons to report their concerns; a whistleblowing service where people can lodge a report anonymously; and professional investigators and case managers who investigate eligible reports. Telstra's Whistleblowing Committee, which is chaired by the Group Company Secretary, receives whistleblowing disclosures and oversees investigations and any follow-up actions required. The Whistleblowing Committee reports to Telstra's People and Remuneration Committee.

Other governance policies and strategies

We have a number of other governance policies and practices that are central to how we promote good corporate governance, and a culture of acting lawfully, ethically and responsibly. These include:

Ethical behaviour

Anti-Bribery and Anti-Corruption – the purpose of this policy is to prevent bribery and corruption in all forms and to ensure compliance with applicable anti-bribery and anti-corruption laws and regulations.

Conflicts of Interest and Outside Interests – the purpose of this policy is to assist employees, contractors, and managers to understand what we consider to be a conflict of interest and how to deal with any actual, perceived, or potential conflicts.

Gifts and Hospitality – this policy assists employees and contractors intending to offer or accept gifts and hospitality to avoid conflicts of interest or improper influence.

People

Discrimination, Bullying, Harassment and Victimisation – this policy sets out our commitment to ensuring a workplace free from unlawful discrimination, bullying, harassment, sexual harassment and victimisation. We take reports of any unacceptable behaviour or conduct seriously. We will address any alleged action or behaviour that is inconsistent with this policy.

Diversity, Equity and Inclusion – our goal is to create a safe, respectful, and inclusive environment where everyone can thrive. We do this by building a diverse workforce that reflects the communities we serve and by embedding equity and inclusion into our leadership, governance and everyday practices. Our policy reflects the way we value diversity, equity and inclusion and the benefits it brings to business outcomes, reputation, and our ability to attract, engage and retain talented people.

Health, Safety and Wellbeing (HSW) – this policy sets out how we keep our people, partners, customers, and the community safe and well. In addition to highlighting the importance of the health and safety of our people, it sets out our commitment to continuously improve our approach.

Market integrity

Continuous Disclosure – this policy outlines how we comply with our continuous disclosure obligations which arise under the ASX Listing Rules and the Corporations Act, as well as the laws of overseas jurisdictions where our securities have been offered or listed. The policy outlines the responsibilities and the process for the approval of our ASX announcements, including where Board approval is required in respect of announcements that relate to matters that are within the reserved powers of the Board (and responsibility for which has not been delegated to management) or matters that are otherwise of fundamental significance to Telstra, as well as the role of the Continuous Disclosure Committee (which comprises the CEO, CFO and Group General Counsel) or its delegate in relation to disclosure matters. It also sets out how we engage with our shareholders, analysts, other members of the investment community and the media.

We provide the Board with copies of all material announcements promptly after they have been released to the ASX. Where we give a new and substantive investor or analyst presentation, we also release a copy of the presentation materials on the ASX Market Announcements Platform before the presentation occurs and where appropriate, a transcript of the presentation (including Q&A session) is lodged with the ASX as soon as practicable after the presentation. Market announcements are also placed on our website.

Securities Trading – this policy sets out the rules relating to trading in Telstra securities by our people to ensure compliance with insider trading laws, with specific rules and restrictions (including in relation to hedging) applying to our Directors, CEO, senior management, specified other staff and their closely related parties.

Doing business

Competition and Consumer Protection – it is critical for our success to be able to compete fairly and deliver the best value to customers. Our Competition and Consumer Protection policy sets out our obligations to prevent practices that limit or prevent competition in Australia. The policy also stipulates the responsibility of Telstra employees and contractors to understand and comply with obligations of overseas jurisdictions in which we operate, as they may differ to Australian rules. We monitor performance against our Competition and Consumer Protection policy through our Compliance framework.

Managing our tax affairs – we are committed to the highest standards of tax governance and compliance with the tax laws and obligations in the jurisdictions in which we operate. We pay tax consistent with our business presence and operations. We apply the Australian Board of Taxation's Voluntary Tax Transparency Code and provide the recommended disclosures. Refer to Managing our tax affairs available on our governance website at telstra.com/governance as well as Note 2.4 to our Financial Statements in our 2026 Financial Report (included in our 2026 Annual Report at telstra.com/annualreport).

Human Rights – we are committed to respecting and supporting human rights in our own operations and through our business relationships. Telstra can impact, both negatively and positively, on the human rights of a range of people, including employees, contractors, customers, suppliers and their workers, other business partners, and the broader community. Accordingly, it is important that all employees, contractors and others working on behalf of Telstra respect human rights in their work. We also expect that our suppliers and business partners comply with our minimum standards in the areas of labour and human rights (among others), which are described in our Supplier Code of Conduct.

Environment – our Environment policy sets out our commitment to act on climate, progress a circular economy, protect nature and biodiversity, and helping enable the transition for our customers. It describes how we meet our environmental responsibilities and empower people and organisations to improve their environmental performance.

Management reports on conduct that is materially inconsistent with our behaviours and habits and our Code, as well as our key governance policies, to our Board Committees (Audit Committee, People and Remuneration Committee and Risk and Sustainability Committee) and the Telstra Board, together with details of the actions taken, or proposed to be taken, by management in response. The Code of Conduct is periodically reviewed to check that it is operating effectively and whether any changes are required to the Code.

6. Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) at Telstra

We are committed to building a diverse, equitable and inclusive workplace and community where people are safe, respected and included. By harnessing diverse thinking and holding ourselves accountable, we strive to deliver real outcomes for the millions of diverse customers we serve.

Strengthen workplace inclusion and equity for everyone

We build a workplace where people are respected, valued, celebrated, and feel a sense of belonging.

Embrace the diverse needs of our customers

We reflect our community and the diverse needs of our customers.

Centre voices of marginalised groups

We respect and acknowledge people from marginalised groups and work to help level the playing field.

DEI is embedded in our leadership, governance, and operations, with oversight from the Board and People & Remuneration Committee. Our CEO-chaired DEI Council drives strategy into action, ensuring DEI is both a cultural and business priority. Our Global DEI Strategy focuses on lasting impact and integration. This means creating a safe, respectful and inclusive workplace for everyone. We embed DEI into systems, leadership accountability and customer needs. DEI priorities are guided by self-identification data (#CountMeIn) and the Employee Experience Survey (EES) insights. We also draw on insights from gender deep dives and First Nations talent initiatives. Alongside this, we build DEI capability across the organisation. This chapter outlines how we're translating our global DEI Strategy into measurable and impactful change.

Strengthen workplace inclusion and equity for everyone

At Telstra, we want everyone to contribute and feel like they belong. That's why equity and inclusion are part of everything we do, not just stand-alone programs. Using our Big Three behaviours (Look Beyond, Work as One, and Make a Difference), we're changing how we work, how leaders lead, and how we make decisions to ensure everyone feels safe, respected, and included.

• Employee Representative Groups (ERGs)

Telstra has five ERGs: First Nations, Mosaic (Culture, Ethnicity and Race), Rise (Gender), Spectrum (LGBTQ+), and TelstrAbility (Accessibility, Disability and Neurodiversity). In 2026, we focused on intersectionality by strengthening collaboration across employee groups. This included our first ERG Fair Day and DEI Awards. These events increased awareness of ERGs and recognised employees who meaningfully contribute to a more inclusive workplace. We also worked closely with ERGs to ensure marginalised voices were heard. This included working together on key initiatives such as the learning strategy, accessibility audit, racial literacy program, and First Nations engagement. Our ERG-led events also took an intersectional approach to building awareness and increasing engagement.

• Pride in Diversity – Australian Workplace Equality Index (AWEI)

We maintained our Silver status in 2026, reflecting sustained progress in LGBTQ+ inclusion. To support continued progress, we strengthened policy, governance and capability initiatives. This included inclusive signage and training with Pride in Diversity to help teams better support LGBTQ+ customers.

• Accessible Recruitment

We are on track to achieve Disability Confident Recruitment Accreditation for the seventh consecutive year. We also ensured candidates have multiple pathways to access recruitment assistance, including email and telephone, providing greater choice and control. We continue to refine wording of our advertisements and websites to reduce bias and promote greater applicant diversity. Our focus now shifts to ensuring the end-to-end recruitment process meets international standards and recognised best practice.

• DEI capability

We continued to build DEI capability through the DEI Capability Hub and our Begin with Basics learning pathway. This pathway provides foundational learning on equity, disability, First Nations, LGBTQ+ inclusion, gender equity, neurodiversity and bias. We also launched the DEI Capability Compass, a self-reflection tool that provides employees with simple tasks to continue their DEI learning journey.

• Neurodiversity

The Neurodiversity Framework and Hub continue to provide practical tools for leaders and employees. We also sponsored the Australian Disability Network's (AusDN) NeuroAffirmative Workplace Research and worked with Diversity Council Australia (DCA) to launch their Neurodiversity Data at Work guide. We also rolled out Neuro-affirmative Leadership training to help leaders support and build neurodivergent talent.

Embrace the diverse needs of our customers

We believe that building accessible technology and creating a workforce reflective of our customers and community is essential to delivering inclusive, relevant products and services. These initiatives are about empathy, equity and ensuring everyone has the opportunity to thrive.

• Enabling accessibility

Accessibility is a core part of how we design our technology, products, workplaces and ways of working. Telstra.com and the My Telstra app continue to meet WCAG 2.2 Level A and AA requirements, supported by independent annual conformance audits. In November 2025, the Driving Accessibility Experience (DAEX) project reviewed accessibility across digital platforms, physical environments and workplace processes. The findings informed Telstra's latest Accessibility and Inclusion Action Plan (AIAP). This work strengthens accountability, supports consistent delivery and embeds accessibility into core everyday business practices.

• Supporting gender diversity

We continue to aspire to 40:40:20 gender balance across both executive leadership⁽ⁱ⁾ and our global workforce by 2030. 40:40:20 represents 40 per cent women, 40 per cent men and 20 per cent any gender (women, men and gender diverse individuals). This aspiration is embedded in monthly business reports and Group Executive scorecards. We advance gender diversity through integrated governance, policies and initiatives that support safety, respect and inclusion. This includes:

– Strengthening accountability with our DEI Council. The Council supports each function to meet its objectives through collaborative and innovative activities.

– Continuing to review and enhance policies that support equity and flexibility. This includes global gender-neutral parental leave, superannuation paid on unpaid parental leave and flexible working.

– Embedding cultural and psychological safety by centering diverse voices in our Respect at Work, Safety and Wellbeing approaches, and our annual Discrimination, Bullying, Harassment and Victimisation training.

– Strengthening pathways to education and progression through initiatives like Women in Tech, Rise (Gender ERG), and Girls in Tech programs.

– Delivering Men's Health Week and mental health awareness campaigns, spotlighting issues that disproportionately affect men, including stigma around seeking help and mental wellbeing.

– Supporting our activities through partnerships with the Champions of Change Coalition, Diversity Council Australia (DCA) and Tech-Equity, Diversity and Inclusion (T-EDI) Standards.

• Engaging First Nations talent

We are committed to increasing opportunities for First Nations people across our Australian workforce. Led by the First Nations Talent Lead, Telstra has worked with First Nations employees, communities and organisations to embed our First Nations Talent Strategy. The strategy focuses on improved workforce representation, stronger leadership pipelines, and more culturally safe systems that support long-term, sustainable outcomes for First Nations talent. This aligns with Telstra's FY26–28 Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP), reflecting our commitment to continuous improvement, listening, and learning. We also support indirect employment in regional and remote communities. We deliver these opportunities through partnerships and on-country initiatives. Key initiatives include:

– Operating micro-call centres in Jumbun and Palm Island to support the First Nations Connect phone line.

– Partnering with the Centre for Appropriate Technology Alice Springs to pilot the Remote Technical Support Program.

– Engaging First Nations businesses across Queensland, the Northern Territory and Western Australia to provide grounds maintenance at more than 2,500 remote sites.

– Partnering with Ngalawa Nura (NGNU) to deliver 416 hours of paid training and employment for cadets in the final six months of the project.

– Establishing a three-year partnership with Jawun for on-country experiences for employees.

– Partnering with Melbourne Business School's MURRA Indigenous Business Leadership Program to provide professional development opportunities.

Further details are available on our website: Supporting First Nations communities and customers – Telstra.

Objective	Performance as of 30 June 2026
Achieve 40:40:20 gender balance by 2030 across our executive leadership⁽ⁱ⁾ and the global workforce. For this aspiration, "executive leadership team" refers to the CEO and Group Executives (Band A) roles. This means 40% women, 40% men and 20% of any gender (women, men and gender diverse individuals).	Our ongoing commitment to gender equity means increasing representation of women in our executive leadership⁽ⁱ⁾ team and global workforce. This year's results: • Executive leadership⁽ⁱ⁾ team : 40.0% • Global workforce: 37.4%.
Increase First Nations representation to at least 1.5% of Telstra's Australian direct workforce.	We are committed to increasing employment opportunities for First Nations people. 1.47% of our Australian direct workforce is First Nations.

Performance based on percentage of staff who have disclosed in the Telstra Group HR System (Workday).

Centre voices of marginalised groups

Our approach is shaped by lived experience, listening to and learning from people in marginalised communities. This helps us understand barriers and design solutions that address real employee experiences.

• #CountMeIn Self-ID Campaign

The #CountMeIn self-identification campaign aims to improve our workforce demographic data. This year we prioritised storytelling, trust-building, and transparent data usage. Our #CountMeIn campaign is strengthening our ability to make more data-informed decisions.

• Data-driven decisions

We combined #CountMeIn data with other evidence to build a holistic understanding of employee experience. This included employee feedback, qualitative research, external and internal audits. We analysed Employee Engagement Survey (EES) results by demographic group. The findings confirmed known barriers and provided confidence that we are focusing on the right priorities. Our data now allows us to measure the impact of our initiatives.

• Addressing racism

We designed an 18-month Culture, Ethnicity and Race Action Plan based on findings from employee surveys and focus groups. We also delivered the DCA Racism at Work training to help employees and leaders recognise and address racism. We ran a four-week campaign for International Day for the Elimination of Racial Discrimination (IDERD). The campaign highlighted cultural leave, the value of multi-lingual teams, and how to prevent racism.

• Expanding digital and tech access

Together with Microsoft and LinkedIn, we support AI for Good, delivered by Good Things Australia. The program builds AI skills and confidence for people at risk of digital exclusion. This includes establishing local AI Hubs including in Northern Territory, South Australia and Tasmania, where exclusion rates are highest.

*Telstra Corporate Group refers to the employing entities included in Telstra's 2024–25 WGEA reporting submission and includes all Australian-based employees across all employing entities including: Telstra Limited, Telstra Group Limited, Telstra Corporation Limited (InfraCo), Telstra International (Aus) Ltd, Telstra Health Pty Ltd, Telstra Broadcast Services Pty Limited, Alliance Automotive Group, Amplitel Pty Ltd, Aqura Technologies Pty Ltd, Digicel (Aus) Pty Ltd, Fetch TV Mgmt Pty Ltd, Fred IT Group Pty Ltd, National Communication Museum Ltd, Mobile Tracking and Data Pty Ltd, and Versent Pty Ltd.

Gender Pay Equity

Equity is central to Telstra's DEI strategy and gender pay gap is a key measure of progress. The 2024–25 Workplace Gender Equality Agency (WGEA) reported an 18.6 per cent gender pay gap for median total remuneration and a 12.4 per cent gender pay gap for mean total remuneration across Telstra Corporate Group*. Both results improved compared to the previous reporting period. The improvement reflects more women in higher-paid roles, confirming our gender pay gap is primarily driven by representation. To reduce the gap further, we take a data-driven approach to developing, retaining and recruiting diverse talent. Our key actions include:

- Conducting gender deep dives and taking targeted action in priority areas where women are under-represented in higher-paid roles. We completed this review in Telstra Enterprise (TE) and Global Networks & Technology (GN&T). The review identified actions to increase representation of women in senior technical, specialist and leadership roles.
- Delivering on updated WGEA requirements through analysis and governance. This included reviewing our job classification framework and analysing our gender pay gap results. We set three gender equality targets aligned to our 40:40:20 aspiration by 2030. We have a plan to implement and track these targets.
- Regularly reviewing pay to identify and address potential bias.

We conduct regular pay reviews to help ensure we do not pay women and men differently for performing the same work. We use a "comparative ratio" to compare an employee's fixed remuneration to the midpoint of the remuneration range for their role. The midpoint represents the market median, and the comparative ratio indicates whether an employee or group of employees is paid below or above market rates. A comparative ratio above 1.00 indicates remuneration is above the market median. Using a comparative ratio allows us to compare the relative "fairness" of fixed remuneration for different employee groups, considering the type and level of work they perform. Variable remuneration is excluded as it depends on various factors, is expressed only as a target, and is not guaranteed.

The table below shows Telstra's overall position when averaging the comparative ratios for both male and female employees. The difference column represents the male comparative ratio less the female comparative ratio. Although this difference has been close to zero for some time, we do not expect or strive for a difference of zero. Rather, we work to ensure that the natural and ongoing variation of individual comparative ratios over time reflects factors such as experience, performance, talent, and promotions into new roles, and is not the result of any discrimination or bias, including gender bias.

Australia Average Comparative Ratio

¹ "Corporate governance statement" is defined in Listing Rule 19.12 to mean the statement referred to in Listing Rule 4.10.3 which discloses the extent to which an entity has followed the recommendations set by the ASX Corporate Governance Council during a particular reporting period.

Listing Rule 4.10.3 requires an entity that is included in the official list as an ASX Listing to include in its annual report either a corporate governance statement that meets the requirements of that rule or the URL of the page on its website where such a statement is located. The corporate governance statement must disclose the extent to which the entity has followed the recommendations set by the ASX Corporate Governance Council during the reporting period. If the entity has not followed a recommendation for any part of the reporting period, its corporate governance statement must separately identify that recommendation and the period during which it was not followed and state its reasons for not following the recommendation and what (if any) alternative governance practices it adopted in lieu of the recommendation during that period.

Under Listing Rule 4.7.4, if an entity chooses to include its corporate governance statement on its website rather than in its annual report, it must lodge a copy of the corporate governance statement with ASX at the same time as it lodges its annual report with ASX. The corporate governance statement must be current as at the effective date specified in that statement for the purposes of Listing Rule 4.10.3.

Under Listing Rule 4.7.3, an entity must also lodge with ASX a completed Appendix 4G at the same time as it lodges its annual report with ASX. The Appendix 4G serves a dual purpose. It acts as a key designed to assist readers to locate the governance disclosures made by a listed entity under Listing Rule 4.10.3 and under the ASX Corporate Governance Council's recommendations. It also acts as a verification tool for listed entities to confirm that they have met the disclosure requirements of Listing Rule 4.10.3.

The Appendix 4G is not a substitute for, and is not to be confused with, the entity's corporate governance statement. They serve different purposes and an entity must produce each of them separately.

² Tick whichever option is correct and then complete the page number(s) of the annual report, or the URL of the web page, where your corporate governance statement can be found. You can, if you wish, delete the option which is not applicable.

³ Throughout this form, where you are given two or more options to select, you can, if you wish, delete any option which is not applicable and just retain the option that is applicable. If you select an option that includes "OR" at the end of the selection and you delete the other options, you can also, if you wish, delete the "OR" at the end of the selection.
